Vickers-Vimy Biplane "Hops Off on Transatlantic Flight"

BOMBER STARTS FROM ST. JOHN'S

Capt. Alcock, a Britisher, Pilot, and Lt. Brown, an American, Navigator

Plane Equipped With Powerful Wireless—Pilot Pioneer in Aviation

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 14.—The Vickers-Vimy biplane started on its transatlantic flight at 4:13 o'clock this afternoon (Greenwich time).

The Vickers-Vimy machine carried two men, Capt. Jack Alcock, a Britisher, as pilot, and Lieut. Arthur Whitten Brown, an American, as navigator. A wireless telegraph set, capable of sending and receiving messages over comparatively long distances, is part of the plane's equipment.

Pilot Pioneer Aviator
Capt. Jack Alcock, the pilot, was among the British pioneers in aviation. He obtained his flying certificate in 1912 and joined the Royal Naval Air Service immediately upon the outbreak of the war. He acted as an instructor at first, but was later sent to the Turkish front, where he held the record for long distance bombing raids. He was later captured by the Turks and held prisoner until the armistice was signed.

SERVICE MEN WILL PARADE JULY FOURTH

All apprehension as to whether or not the general run of service men in Lowell will be in favor of parading on The Fourth was dispelled last night at the meeting of Lowell veterans at the state armory when not one dissenting voice was heard when the question was put to them by Chairman George Poye.

It was the second meeting of the temporary organization, known as the Lowell Veterans' association, and the attendance was considerably larger than a week ago when the meeting was held in the high school annex. Several important matters came up for discussion, one of considerable interest being the American Legion and the question of affiliation. Capt. John C. Leggat was present to explain somewhat the formation and aims of the legion, although he made it clear that he was not in a position to discuss the question very thoroughly, as the only Lowell man at the St. Louis convention. Sergt. John O'Rourke, has not returned to the city as yet.

Capt. Leggat had a charter application with him and read from that and also briefly reviewed the constitution and by-laws. It is the ultimate purpose of the Lowell organization to affiliate itself with a national body, but it seems to be the sense of the gathering to proceed slowly and carefully. After listening to Capt. Leggat and asking several questions, the meeting voted to consider the matter and for this purpose and also for the purpose of more thorough investigation a committee of five was appointed to report at the next regular meeting. Mayor Perry D. Thompson was introduced and spoke briefly in the interests of the planned July 4 parade and celebration. He said he knew the men were sick of parading, but added that the people of the city were not sick or tired of seeing them in line and uniform and urged a large turnout in uniform on Independence day. The mayor was heartily applauded at the close and the meeting then unanimously voted to participate and to pass along the word to all service men. Lieut. Col. Charles Stevens has been appointed chief marshal of the military division of the parade and he in turn named Capt. Leggat as his chief of staff.

The welfare committee of the organization made a splendid report last evening which showed that many mills and other industries were heartily in accord with the plan of the committee in doing everything possible for the returned soldiers and sailors.

PLAN $1,000,000 HOTEL

Rumor Has It That Boston Men Plan To Build Big Hotel Here

If a report going the rounds today has any foundation of fact Lowell is due for a $1,000,000 hotel. It is understood the site selected is the area now occupied by the Old Washington Tavern on back Central street and bounded on one side by Church street and on the other by Green street. Not only must the land now occupied by the Old Washington Tavern properly be utilized but to build the hotel now in contemplation land immediately in the rear of the tavern must be utilized.

The men behind the new hotel proposition are understood to represent a group of Boston financiers who have money to invest. It is intimated that as a building can be erected in Lowell at about 25 per cent. less than it would cost if erected for the same purpose in Boston, this feature has interested the Boston financiers. It is said it has been proposed to have the new hotel owned by a stock company and already some Lowell men of means have been invited to subscribe for stock to at least signify if they would be in a receptive mind to take stock, if negotiations progressed far enough so that they were assured an option on the land needed had been obtained and plans for a good hotel prepared.

It is expected an announcement of a more definite character carrying interesting details may be made next week.

LOWELL MAN DROWNED WHILE BATHING

Olivia Fournier, aged 39 years, a peddler and hawker by occupation, whose home is at 63 Cheever street, was drowned this morning while bathing in the Merrimack river at a point near the spring on the Pawtucket boulevard. The body was recovered later and brought to the rooms of Undertaker Joseph Albert in Aiken street.

Mr. Fournier had been ill for the past two weeks and this morning he asked William Gilmore, who lived with him at 63 Cheever street, to take him near the river in his carriage. Mr. Gilmore drove up to what is known as the spring and left Fournier under a tree with the understanding that he would call for him at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

At 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, however, Gilmore returned to the boulevard and much to his surprise, when he reached the spot where he had left Fournier a couple of hours previous, the latter was not in sight, although his clothing was on the river bank. After an investigation, Gilmore found Fournier lying in about two feet of water. He pulled the body out of the water and telephoned to the police station. Undertaker Albert was later notified and he brought the body to his undertaking rooms, where it will be viewed by Medical Examiner T. B. Smith. It is believed that Fournier, who was very weak, went in for a swim and while in the water, took a fainting spell.

Fournier was well known in this city, where for the past 15 years he has sold fruit and vegetables. He leaves his wife, two daughters, Blanche and Rosa, a son, Ovilla and his mother, as well as several brothers and sisters.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Merrimack Street Store To Change Hands—Hotel Sale Reported—Other Rumors

Although the last step in the transaction will not be taken for a day or two, it was admitted this morning by the persons involved that A. M. Nelson, candy dealer, has leased the store of the Dickson's Tea Store Co., 68 Merrimack street, in the Wyman's Exchange building, and will occupy the premises shortly after September 1, the date of the expiration of the present lease.

The Dickson company has occupied the store for 30 odd years and for the past few years and until three months ago, A. M. Nelson conducted a candy department in conjunction with it. Mr. Nelson moved his business to Central street on or about the first of March, however, but will now move back again, occupying the entire store. David Dickson said today that he had no plans for the future.

Another real estate transaction of considerable magnitude, which further endorses the belief that downtown property is undergoing a widespread change of ownership, and which caused the circulation of persistent rumor today, was the reported sale of the Waverly Hotel property, recently acquired by Dudley L. Page, to the E. Smith Hardware Co. of Market street. Although it was admitted that thoughts of the sale have been entertained and that some preliminary steps toward the transfer have been made, it was denied that the actual transaction has been closed. In speaking of the sale, Mr. Smith said today that if the property was purchased it would be for the purpose of occupancy.

It has been rumored for some time that eventually the Liggett Drug Co. will move its store across the street to occupy the stores now maintained by John T. Finnegan, jeweler and the Snyder Co., hatters, in the Wyman's Exchange building and the rumor was very prevalent again today, but as far as could be learned it had no solid foundation. Neither lease expires until December 1 and the present occupants need not be notified, under the terms, until September 1. All business transactions of the Liggett Co. emanate from the New York offices and as yet they have given out nothing definite.

LOW DEATH RATE HERE THIS WEEK

The rate for this week is 8.67 in comparison with 16.65 and 19.52 for the two previous weeks. There were five deaths of children under five years of age, and of these four were of children under one. There were four deaths caused by infectious diseases and one by pneumonia, one by cerebro spinal meningitis and three by tuberculosis.

ARREST OF U. S. WRITER

Minor Taken by French at Request of British Military Authorities

COBLENZ, Friday, June 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Officers who have heard the particulars regarding the imprisonment of Robert Minor, the American magazine writer and cartoonist say that Minor was arrested by the French at the request of the British military authorities, who have been pressing for action against propagandists.

It is understood that Minor has spent several weeks in Dusseldorf within the last few months, going to that city from Petrograd. According to information in the hands of Americans, Minor wrote several pamphlets in Dusseldorf and had them printed there. It is asserted that the pamphlets are of radical tendencies. While Minor was arrested at the request of the British it was with an understanding that he would be turned over to the American military authorities by the French and would in turn be placed in custody of the British. It was said here that the British have notified American army officers that they do not desire to take further action in Minor's case. Minor was still in all tonight but it is understood that there are no formal charges against him.

Nine men of mixed nationalities are being tried at Cologne by a British military commission in connection with charges growing out of the spreading of propaganda in the British occupied area.

SUPPLEMENTARY BUDGET

City Council Will Have To Adopt One To Pay the Wage Increases

From all indications now prevalent at city hall the municipal council will be obliged to adopt a supplementary budget this year if the various wage increases asked for this week by employees in several of the departments are to be granted.

The council has not yet taken any definite action which would indicate whether the raises are favored. This is scheduled to come at next Tuesday's meeting. However, if the increases are granted it will mean that some 500 employees will be affected and the average increase will be 50 cents per day. The City Teamsters' and Municipal Employees' unions as well as members of the police department have all asked for an increase of 15 per cent. Members of the latter department receive $4 per day and the wages of the teamsters and municipal employees run from $2.50 to $4 per day.

In addition, it is reported that many of the clerks at city hall are planning to "hold out" on the new budget. If it is put through, and it is estimated that if all the increases wanted are granted an additional appropriation of some $75,000 will be needed. The council adopted a supplementary budget last July to provide for increases in various departments and this totalled something more than $100,000 for the remaining six months of last year.

SKEELS MURDER TRIAL

Burton S. Flagg, Administrator of Gay Estate, Recalled as Witness

LAWRENCE, June 14.—Burton S. Flagg, administrator of the estate of Miss Florence W. Gay, for whose death by poisoning Mrs. Bessie M. Skeels is undergoing trial on a charge of murder, was recalled as a witness today. He testified that the property included a quantity of jewelry and he was asked regarding correspondence which he had with Mrs. Skeels about two missing diamond rings. The prosecution contends that the defendant while engaged as a nurse in the Gay home stole several articles. Under cross-examination, the witness produced a letter from Nurse Skeels dated six months after Miss Gay's death in which, replying to his request for information about the two rings, she wrote that Miss Gay's father had told her he was not sure his daughter ever owned a diamond ring.

Mrs. Skeels also wrote that she had given some jewelry to Mrs. Luce. James Chandler, colored, who cared for the furnace at the Gay house, said that Mrs. Skeels had told him she had heard strange noises and had seen some one running about the house.

He said he found a number of bottles in the room he cleaned up after Miss Gay's death and was asked to describe them. He never saw Miss Gay give Mrs. Skeels any articles. She had on one occasion given him two mattresses, he said, and he said that he might have taken some goods from the Gay house to Mrs. Skeels' room.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Despite claims by Percy Thomas, deputy international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union that the number of strikers was growing, officials of the Western Union and Postal Companies renewed today their assertion that the strike had failed and that many strikers were returning to work. Traffic conditions, they said, were normal.

MAKING THE MERRIMACK RIVER NAVIGABLE

Definite local action to reopen the project to make the Merrimack river navigable will be forthcoming next Thursday morning when Congressman John Jacob Rogers will hold a conference at the board of trade rooms at 10 o'clock with members of the board's waterways committee, state legislators of this district and a delegation from the Lawrence chamber of commerce, headed by A. B. Sutherland, the father of the Merrimack valley navigation project.

The recent adverse report of Colonel Shunk of the war department will be discussed and a plan of action to have the campaign reopened mapped out.

Congressman Rogers got in touch with President John M. O'Donoghue of the board of trade this morning directly after his arrival from Washington and the date of the meeting decided upon. Owing to numerous other engagements of the congressman, it was not practicable to set the date of the meeting any earlier in the week.

The members of the board of trade waterways commission are: George Bowers, chairman; Robert F. Marden, Hon. John Jacob Rogers, Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Butler Ames, F. A. Flather, John H. Harrington, John J. Hogan, James J. McManmon, George S. Motley, John H. Murphy, James E. O'Donnell, Capt. William P. White, U. S. N., retired.

INFORMAL OBSERVANCE OF FLAG DAY

Today was a Flag day and was observed informally in Lowell by the display of the Stars and Stripes from residences and business establishments. The only formal observance of the day will come this evening when the Lowell lodge of Elks will hold brief exercises in their hall in Middle street. The general public is invited to attend. One of the fortunate fundaments of Elksdom is respect for the flag and every lodge is required to have some observance of Flag day annually. This evening's exercises will begin at 8 o'clock and will be of an informal nature.

Later the mob stopped its pillaging tactics, but took control of the market and obliged the merchants to sell at prices fixed by the people. Thus chickens, which recently reached $8 apiece, sold for $1; olive oil, which had brought 50 cents a quart, sold for 25 cents, while thousands of bottles of fancy wines, which had been selling at high prices, were handed out to the crowd for 30 cents each.

Germans Get Revised Terms Monday—Will Be Given Two Days To Consider

Failure To Sign Will End Armistice—Smaller Nations Cause Delay

Paris, June 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Germany's peace delegates, it is reported from Paris, will be given but two days in which to consider and reply to the revised peace terms, which it is expected, will be presented on Monday. DISORDERS IN ITALY

Crowds Sack Shops in Spezia and Distribute Hats, Shoes and Provisions

ROME, Friday, June 13 (By the Associated Press).—The disorders which began in Spezia on Thursday continued today because of a lack of sufficient forces to check the crowds which were sacking the shops and distributing hats, shoes and provisions right and left. Hogsheads of wine were rolled from wine shops several miles outside the city and distributed to the people amid tumultuous enthusiasm.

Later the mob stopped its pillaging tactics, but took control of the market and obliged the merchants to sell at prices fixed by the people. Thus chickens, which recently reached $8 apiece, sold for $1; olive oil, which had brought 50 cents a quart, sold for 25 cents, while thousands of bottles of fancy wines, which had been selling at high prices, were handed out to the crowd for 30 cents each.

GREAT DAY FOR TOWN

Noted Men To Help Chelmsford Honor Soldiers, Sailors and Nurses Friday

Next Tuesday promises to mark not only the most enthusiastic and elaborate community celebration of the town of Chelmsford has ever held, but perhaps the best victory celebration to honor the town's soldiers, sailors and nurses and its dead heroes who gave their lives in the great war, that any town in eastern Massachusetts has held.

Diplomatically and tactfully overcoming the handicap and drawback which comes of this splendid town being divided into two villages, the Centre and North Chelmsford, the distance between the two being about four miles, a very wonderful program has been arranged and so arranged that no partiality is shown either village. There will be as much of a good time in one place as the other, and consequently a cordial and harmonious feeling has obtained in making all the preliminary arrangements.

Another notable thing in connection with Chelmsford's welcoming home of her soldiers, sailors and nurses is that the town's loyalty and fine war record is such that the lieutenant governor of the state, Hon. Channing Cox, Col. Edward L. Logan of the 101st Regiment, under whom most of the Chelmsford boys served, Col. J. F. J. Herbert of the 102d Field Artillery and Frank Sibley, the noted Boston war correspondent, have accepted invitations to come to the Chelmsford celebration and will make war addresses at the common at North Chelmsford at the exercises scheduled to take place at 2 o'clock.

The complete program as announced by the committee in charge will be carried out as follows: 10 a. m., parade at North Chelmsford; 12 noon, dinner in tent at North Chelmsford; 2 p. m., exercises on common in North Chelmsford and presentation of medals; 6 p. m., supper served in tent on common, North Chelmsford; and in town hall, Chelmsford Centre; 7:30 p. m., community sing, common, Chelmsford Centre, under direction of Albert Edmund Brown; 8 p. m., band concert, North Chelmsford and Chelmsford Centre; 8 p. m., concert, Chelmsford and North Chelmsford town halls; 9 p. m., grand ball in Chelmsford Centre and North Chelmsford town halls.

The chief marshal of the parade will be Sergt. Walter T. Monahan, and the master of the parade will be Chelmsford police chief, marshal and aids, soldiers, sailors and nurses of the world war, Spanish war veterans, G. A. R., Training School band, local branch of the Red Cross Victory Girls, state guard, band, school children, St. John's A. S. society, A. S. and drum corps, Congregational Brotherhood, Court Warrant, 171, M. C. O. P., U. S. Worcester Co., Silesia mills, Chelmsford V. A., The route of parade will be: From at town hall, Princeton street to Church to Middlesex street to Quigley avenue to Mt. Pleasant to Princeton to Mill to Middlesex to Cottage row to Washington to Newfield to Groton road, to common.

The dinner to be served at noon in a tent on the common, North Chelmsford, will be for the soldiers, sailors and nurses, and the menu will consist of roast turkey and chicken, banana fritters, macaroni and cheese, rolls, crab-meat salad, assorted cream, assorted cake and coffee. Arthur Hadley, celebrated American tenor, will give a short series of song numbers during the dinner hour.

The program of exercises on the common at 2 p. m. will be as follows:

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Vasselin of North Chelmsford celebrated their golden wedding at the home of their son, John Vasselin, yesterday. In the course of the day numerous friends and relatives called to offer congratulations and best wishes. Mr. Vasselin was born in Normandy, France, March 2, 1845, and Mrs. Vasselin, who was formerly Miss Harriet J. McCarter, was born in the parish of St. John's Jersey Channel Island, Dec. 13, 1849. They were married in St. John's church, Jersey, June 13, 1869. Both immigrated to this country in 1891. Up to a short while back Mr. Vasselin followed the occupation as a quarryman, but he is at present employed in one of the local mills. Three children blessed their union, two of whom are now living and residing in this locality. They also have five grandchildren.

LOWELL BOY HONORED

Joseph McAvinnue President of Graduating Class at Boston College

The graduating class of 1919 from Boston college will have one of the largest Lowell representations in its personnel of the entire history of the institution. No less than eight Lowell men will be graduated next Wednesday afternoon at the beautiful college buildings on Chestnut hill, Newton, and among them will be the president of the class, the highest office that the graduates can bestow upon one of their fellow members. This year the honor goes to Joseph H. McAvinnue of this city.

Boston college is noted not only in New England but all over the United States for the high calibre young men it develops for various walks of life wherein broad culture and precise training are necessities. Its faculty boasts of some of the most learned men of the country and its mode and method of instruction have been widely inducted into the curricula of other institutions. For these reasons Lowell is especially honored in having so large a representation in the ranks of the 1919 graduating class.

Rejoicing at this excellent record will be found especially prevalent among the members of the Lowell Boston College club, an organization composed of the young men of this city and vicinity who are students at the college. The club's president, Edward LeCam, is one of the 1919 graduates. The others besides President McAvinnue are: William J. O'Brien, John P. McGlinchey, Ralph Rochette, Victor Rochette, John Gardner and James H. Riley.

Joseph H. McAvinnue is the son of the late Dr. Frank McAvinnue and Mrs. Bridget F. McAvinnue of 339 Mammouth road. His father was one of the most widely known physicians in Lowell and died only last July. Mr. McAvinnue is a graduate of the Pawtucket grammar school and Boston college high school. He spent three years at the Lowell high school. He won his high honor as the leading member of the class by uniformly high scholastic records and by persistent activities in various branches of college life. He was a member of the college Glee club, the track team, the Intercollegiate debating team which defeated Princeton, the Fulton Debaters and the college socially. Combined with his earnest work in behalf of his alma mater was an ever present pleasing personality and sociability that made his election as class president a matter of course. President McAvinnue has also been one of the most active workers for the success of the Lowell Boston College club.

John P. McGlinchey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGlinchey of 84 Manchester street, has also been tendered a high honor at the hands of his class associates. Mr. McGlinchey has composed the music of the class song and his production is a most commendable one. Mr. McGlinchey's musical inclinations fit him for this work admirably as he has been organist at St. Margaret's church for some time past and a devoted student of music. He, too, has won high rank in his scholastic endeavors. He is a member of the senior activities committee of the graduating class and organist of the class socially. His early education was received at the Lowell high school.

William J. O'Brien is the son of Michael O'Brien of 687 Central street. Prior to entering Boston college he attended the Moody grammar and Lowell high schools and has won for himself the chairmanship of the ring committee of the graduating class and one of its most popular members. He received his preparatory education at Holy Angels' college, Buffalo, and his elementary training in the local schools.

a host of friends by his career in all three institutions. He is also a member of the senior activities committee of the graduating class.

Ralph and Victor Rochette are sons of Dr. Louis V. Rochette of 730 Merrimack street. Two of the most popular members of the entire class are these brothers and their work in behalf of the Lowell Boston College club has been most commendable. Victor was manager of the college basketball team this year and Ralph hockey manager. Each won success in his undertaking. They received their preliminary education at Assumptionist college, Worcester.

Edward LeCam is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. LeCam of 30 Haines avenue and is president of the Lowell Boston College club, an office which he has filled with most satisfying and enjoyable results. He is a member of the cap and gown committee of the graduating class.

John Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gardner of 17 Waterford street, spent two years at Holy Cross college before going to Boston college. He received his early education in the local schools, being a graduate of the Lowell high school. He is a member of the senior activities committee and an earnest worker for the Lowell Boston College club.

JOHN P. MCGLINCHEY, Class Song Composer.

James H. Riley is the son of Mrs. Mary F. Riley of 39 Methuen street. He tended the Moody grammar and Lowell high schools and has won for himself the chairmanship of the ring committee of the graduating class and one of its most popular members. He received his preparatory education at Holy Angels' college, Buffalo, and his elementary training in the local schools.

These eight young men will have a busy time during commencement week which begins tomorrow. Tomorrow evening the annual baccalaureate sermon will be delivered in the hall of Boston college high school, Boston, by Rev. James F. Stanton, rural dean of Norfolk, and a noted literateur. On Monday the usual class day exercises will be held at the college buildings in Newton at which President McAvinnue will deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the graduating class. The finale of the commencement season will come Wednesday afternoon when graduation exercises will be held. A large number of Lowell people plan to attend the ceremonies.

EXTENSION OF BOY SCOUT CAMPAIGN

The Boy Scout campaign has been extended until Monday night throughout New England, as the result of the lack of interest so far shown in the drive. One million associate members and thousands of men who will give their spare time as scoutmasters to further the work being done for Young America is the objective of the national campaign, and it is hoped that Monday night will show that the public believes in this great organization and the work it is trying to accomplish. Gov. Coolidge signed up yesterday as an associate member which merely entails the contributing of $1 to the campaign.

A demonstration of semaphore work will be given this afternoon by the Lowell scouts in connection with the drive. Teams of scouts from different sections of the city will relay messages from Rogers park, commencing at 5 p. m., to the Concord river bridge on East Merrimack street, where the boys will send the message by semaphore signals to the roof of The Sun building. From there they will be wigwagged to the Five Cent Savings bank, then to the Wier building and last to Monument square.

This afternoon a continuous demonstration of scout efficiency was given by various troops in front of city hall, commencing at 2 o'clock, including fire building without matches, first aid to the injured, knot tying and other things which your up-to-the-minute scout must have at his finger tips at all times.

Fred Timmins, one of the local scoutmasters, gave a short talk in the Strand theatre last evening in which he made an appeal for more scoutmasters for the local council.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. MICHAEL'S CHURCH

One of the prettiest weddings of the June season was that of Mr. Thomas J. Dowd, a popular clerk at the post-office, and Miss Marion A. Ready, who were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. James F. Lynch at St. Michael's church at 5:30.

Mr. Dowd is well known in local musical circles, being a member of Broderick's orchestra, while Miss Ready is well known among the younger set. The couple were attended by Miss Gertrude Reardon as bridesmaid and Mr. Raymond E. Dowd, a brother of the bridegroom, as best man. The bride wore white georgette crepe with a veil caught up with lilies-of-the-valley and carried a shower bouquet. The bridesmaid wore flesh georgette crepe over pink net and carried pink sweet peas. The wedding march was played by Miss Ella M. Reilly and solos were sustained by Commissioner James E. Donnelly and Miss Margaret McDonough. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 221 Hildreth street, immediately after the ceremony by Caterer Harvey. Members of the immediate families of the couple were present. Mr. and Mrs. Dowd received many beautiful gifts from their numerous friends. They left early this afternoon on a trip to Springfield, Troy, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

CHILD SAVED FROM WORMS

A mother of six children writes: "My baby was very sick and a friend of mine suggested trying Dr. True's Worm Elixir. Now I have six children and am never without Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller in my house." Mrs. B. N. Gile, West Newbury, Mass.

Signs of worms are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. If your child shows any of these symptoms, start giving Dr. True's Elixir at once.—Adv.

FOR SWIMMING POOL

Girls' Club Petitions For Its Inclusion in Plans For Public Auditorium

The women's committee of the Community Service Club for Girls has sent a petition to the members of the public auditorium commission, appealing for the inclusion of a swimming pool for girls in the plans for the proposed memorial auditorium, and copies of the petition have been sent to all the women's organizations throughout the city for endorsement. The petition follows:

To the Members of the Auditorium Commission of Lowell.

Gentlemen: We, the undersigned women's organizations of Lowell, appeal to you who represent our city in its fine civic undertaking of erecting a municipal memorial building which shall be a centre of educational and recreational activities for the whole community. To include a swimming pool in it for women and girls. Your admirable choice of a location will enable you easily to take advantage of Lowell's superior water facilities for this excellent purpose.

We are sure that you will agree with us that the tremendous value to a city of promoting, through wholesome recreation, the health and standards of right living of the future mothers of its citizens, cannot be overestimated.

The closing night of the season's activities at the club will be held on the evening of June 19, and the program will be participated in by the glee, sewing and embroidery clubs. A concert by the club, with soloists assisting, will be a feature and exhibits of sewing and embroidery done during the class sessions will be enjoyed. Families of the club girls are invited.

As a forerunner to the eventual plan of the formation of a league of community service clubs in Lowell, the Girls' club already has formed a community service singing league for the summer months. Its membership includes the Y.W.C.A., Camp Fire Girls, Girls' Friendly society, Girl Scouts, Catholic societies, Community Service club, Y.W.H.A. and the International Institute. Community sings will be held each Monday evening, beginning next Monday night, June 16. The first two sings will be conducted by Albert Edmund Brown at the club rooms in the Runnels building, but comprehensive plans for a series of novel outdoor sings will be placed in operation thereafter. Detailed plans will be announced later.

NEW YORK MAN TALKS ON BUILDING SITUATION

NEW YORK, June 14.—With regard to the building situation, S. W. Straus of S. W. Straus & Co. of New York says:

"Indications are that by mid-summer we shall witness the actual beginning of a long and active period of construction work in all parts of the country."

"Not only have building operations greatly increased in the last 30 days, but there has been noted a pronounced increase among inquiries for capital to be used in construction lines of all kinds and for industrial expansion. These inquiries are of such a nature and represent so many varied interests as to indicate a strong undertone of national optimism with regard to immediate business prospects and a rapid approach toward general stabilization."

"Reports from the principal business centres of the country show that the resumption of building operations on an extensive scale has begun and there is reason to believe that the present month may be the best June in the history of the country in point of building contracts let, unless labor disturbances or some other unfavorable circumstances prevent."

"The improved conditions in the building industry are based quite largely on the realization by all interested that construction prices, instead of receding, will go higher. It has become generally recognized that labor costs in this country are more likely to advance than to be modified, and this, in the final analysis, is the deciding factor for the reason that about 40 per cent. of the cost of a building is for labor employed in erection work and 35 per cent. is for labor in the manufacture of materials. Labor employed in construction work advanced 25 1/2 per cent. during the period of 1914-1918 while the cost of living went up 65 per cent. and in New York it advanced 73 per cent. It may be assumed, therefore, that construction costs will go higher than present levels with the added pressure of ensuring abnormal demands."

"It must be remembered that the cost of commodities entering into building construction are low at the present time compared with the cost of all other commodities, and, with general prices continually working toward higher levels, it is futile for any building interests to expect more favorable terms at a later date."

"While construction activities are now gaining headway rapidly with every indication of reaching unprecedented proportions as the summer advances, there is no likelihood that anything approaching normal housing conditions will be attained. The situation has been growing steadily worse for two years. There is a building deficit amounting to more than $1,000,000,000 which includes a million homes. Neither the physical equipment of builders nor the supply of unskilled labor is sufficient to make it possible to reach a condition of normality before the expiration of a number of years. However, present activities will tend to stabilize general conditions and prevent much suffering in the large cities during the coming winter."

WOMAN SAYS BABES ARE WRAPPED IN PAPER IN CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

N. E. A. Special to The Sun PRAGUE, June 14.—"We have paid a terrible price for our liberty, but we have it at last. Yet what good is the precious possession of it, if our children are to grow up stunted in growth and too weak to repair the ravages of war and to build up our nation until it reaches the high ideals of our dreams?"

This is the question Miss Alice Masaryk, daughter of the president of Czechoslovakia, put to herself when she first saw the peaked, old faces of the Czech children and their little bodies, weak and stunted in growth from underfeeding.

Miss Masaryk is remembered in America for her settlement work in the slums of Chicago, while her father, Professor Thomas G. Masaryk, was exchange professor in the University of Chicago.

There is little lost motion when Jack Dempsey is in the ring. It is for this reason ring bugs are predicting the July 14th match at Toledo between Jack and Jess Willard, champion, will be one of an Australian prison camp and narrowly escaping the tragic fate of Edith Cavell, Miss Masaryk is now co-operating with the American relief administration in its program for Czechoslovakia.

"Our mothers," she writes to Mr. Hoover, director general of the American relief administration, "have nothing but paper with which to wrap their little new-born babes. In the hospitals many of the sick children are without covering of any kind, so scarce is clothing and linen. And as for bandages, 'I know of at least one hospital where paper is used exclusively for bandaging.'"

"Besides our great need of clothing," Miss Masaryk continues, "we need food and soap. Tuberculosis and typhus are raging in some districts uncontrolled. Physicians tell me the cause of this can be traced almost directly to the total lack of soap in these districts. It is impossible for the people to keep clean and so contagion is greatly aggravated. Diseases brought on directly from un-

WHERE HISTORY OF WAR MAY BE WRITTEN

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 14.—"Woodrow Wilson's History of the Great War" will be written at Santa Barbara, according to present indications.

It is said work will start upon the stupendous task, which is also to include a story of the writing of the peace treaty and the formation of the League of Nations, soon after the president retires from public life. Years will be devoted to the work, according to present plans, although serial volumes will be issued as fast as the compilation is completed.

Basis for these conclusions is found in the reported purchase during his recent visit here by W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, railroad administrator and son-in-law of the president, of a 30-acre tract on the hillside overlooking the city and the sea and commanding an unobstructed view of towering Mt. La Cumbre to the east.

The reported consideration is $50,000, the ostensible plan contemplating the conversion of the property into two estates, one for the president and the other for McAdoo. Before McAdoo left the west it was generally understood he was already considering plans for the erection of two handsome mansions and the extensive improvement of the tract in its entirety, building operations being so timed that the structure would be ready for occupancy by the time the president shifts the mantle to his successor.

Woman's Worst Enemy is ANAEMIA or poor blood.

ANAEMIA causes Headaches and Backaches. Anaemia brings on those spells of Nervousness, Giddiness, Buzzing in the Ears and Palpitation.

ANAEMIA makes you pale and thin. Anaemia takes away the appetite and makes you restless at night.

ANAEMIA is robbing you of your strength and vitality.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women conquer Anaemia.

RED PILLS make good, red blood. RED PILLS re-build the body as they re-build the blood; and give you the power to regain your former health.

DON'T let Anaemia ruin your health. Conquer Anaemia by taking RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

MRS. A. PELLAND, 139 Thomas Street, Fall River, Mass., took RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, for inward troubles which were fast exhausting her strength. She was suffering from backaches and also bearing-down pains, and was in such a weakened condition that she could hardly move about. Having seen RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women advertised so extensively in the different newspapers throughout the country, she thought she would give them a trial and so started to take them according to the directions. She regained her strength rapidly, and as she grew stronger, her pains gradually disappeared, with the result that she says she is to day strong and well able to attend to her household duties.

CAUTION—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French doctor, and they have been widely used ever since.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Mr. Merchant, do you believe that your store and the goods you sell from it can have publicity in any way half so efficient as advertising?

If your store is inviting and your clerks courteous and obliging, is there any way it can be made known better than to advertise it?

If you give a dollar's worth of merchandise for every dollar spent in your store—and sometimes do a little better than that—is there any better way of the public's knowing it than for you to advertise?

The buying public has got to know about your store first, before it can have the confidence you want it to have. Can you get public confidence in any better way than advertising?

The word "advertising" seems to be the answer to all these vital merchandising questions. Now what kind of advertising functions 100 per cent. efficient? The answer is newspaper advertising, and if you want to know the medium that gets you 150 per cent. efficiency, get better acquainted with

THE AMERICAN FLAG

Never before in the history of this republic, did the American flag mean so much as it does today.

As a result of the part this nation played in the world war, the American flag is now foremost and above all others in the civilized world. It stands for the rights of humanity, for freedom and democracy in every land whose people can appreciate these inestimable blessings.

Before the war, the American flag was seen in but few harbors of the world and our commerce was conducted mainly in foreign bottoms; but with our new merchant marine, our nation is prepared to conduct our commerce in its own ships so that hereafter, the Stars and Stripes will be seen and respected in every harbor of importance in the entire world.

The United States has become in every sense a world power, and not only that, but it is recognized the world over as the leader for universal peace. This brings new lustre to the American flag and offers additional reasons why we should be proud of our flag and our citizenship.

Unfortunately with the upheavals of the war, there have arisen turbulent elements which, with the red flag for their standard, strike at the very foundations of civilized society through a dictatorship of Bolshevism whose aim, so far as can be judged, is plunder and anarchy. Closely allied to this revolutionary movement is that of the radical socialists, the I.W.W. and the anarchists, some of the most violent of whom have attempted to spread their doctrines in this country.

But here only one flag will be tolerated, and the men who try to substitute the red or any other will have a short shrift when identified in this country. The Bolsheviks and other revolutionaries will be imprisoned or deported. If that will not do, more radical methods will be used to defend the honor of our flag and the liberties of our people.

THE CHARTER QUESTION

The time will soon be at hand when the people of Lowell will have to consider carefully what action they will take in relation to the city charter. At present, there is a petition before the board of registrars in favor of adopting Plan B, which is merely the skeleton of a charter provided by the state legislature for the convenience of cities that may wish for a charter under which they will have ward representation in a board of 15 aldermen, with a mayor who will be the chief executive official of the city and not a member of the aldermen as at present, with co-ordinate powers.

With the necessary amendments, the provisions of Plan B would be thoroughly acceptable and much to be preferred to the present charter in the fact that they provide for a larger board and a salary of $500 each for the members thereof. The mayor's salary is to be limited to $3000, but he is to have much more power over municipal matters than is given the mayor under the present charter. Under the present charter, practically everything is done by the municipal council, but under Plan B the aldermen would pass ordinances providing ways and means, and the mayor would be responsible for seeing that such provisions were carried out by the various departments.

Under Plan B, the board of aldermen would probably have to meet once a week; but the members would not be expected to give any great portion of their time to city affairs. Some committees of course would have to hold numerous meetings in case of any unusual undertaking such as the construction of public buildings. For this reason the salary of $500 is offered, although most of the men elected under Plan B seek the office merely for the honor of serving the city and for the purpose of promoting the public welfare.

The great defect in Plan B, we may say a fatal defect, is, that it does not provide for primary elections. Hence political schemers could put numerous candidates in to the field for any particular office, so as to cut up the vote and leave some dark horse to win the race.

For this reason especially, we are of the opinion that Plan B should be defeated at the polls next November, when it will be submitted for decision.

The reason why we advise this course is that Rep. Corbett, in collaboration with other gentlemen, has so amended Plan B that it will meet the requirements of our city for charter purposes most admirably. Due provision is made for the full and complete direction of the various departments, whereas in the skeleton form enacted by the legislature, there is practically nothing to guide a municipality in managing its departmental activities.

This amended charter also makes provision for primary elections as under the present charter, so that it appears the better course for the people of Lowell to defeat the Plan B skeleton this year, and await the enactment of the Corbett charter next year.

The city of Lynn is working under a charter developed from Plan B which is reported to be giving general satisfaction. The Corbett charter is understood to follow the same lines as that of Lynn, and so far as it has been examined by men competent to judge, it is pronounced to be an excellent charter. Therefore, as between adopting the defective charter and waiting perhaps several years for a complete charter, we prefer to wait till next year for an acceptable charter. Already parts of the Corbett charter have been published, and we are satisfied that if the citizens were made familiar with its provisions, they would decide by a sweeping majority in favor of retaining the present charter until they can make a satisfactory change. To do otherwise would make confusion worse confounded.

WORCESTER'S GAS STRIKE

Worcester's "gas strike" is off and striking gasmakers have returned to work. The opinion seems to prevail in Worcester that the strikers got the better of the argument although the gas company—one of the richest in the state—is no doubt glad it fared no worse.

Perhaps the most significant thing about this gas strike in Worcester is the fact that the united strength of public opinion seems to have had more to do with causing the business to resume, than anything else. The striking gasmakers in Worcester demanded a 25 per cent increase in pay, recognition of their union, different schedule for overtime and laying off workers. The company at first repudiated the whole proposition, whereupon the gasmakers left their jobs and in a short time the supply of gas became exhausted. This was where public opinion made itself felt because it asserted that the community should not be made to suffer because worker and employer were so arbitrary and unbusinesslike as not to submit their differences to arbitration.

Under the influence of public opinion, both parties made concessions. The workers accepted the company's offer of an 8 hour day. The company, in future, will do business with the workers' wage committee and this, the workers contend, is the recognition of their union and the principle of collective bargaining which they demanded. The company will hereafter follow the seniority rule in laying off employees. The state board of arbitration and conciliation will visit Worcester next week and take some evidence in the case. Yesterday morning, Worcester folks commenced to get gas. Public opinion in Worcester believes it has won by forcing the company to make concessions that made a speedy settlement possible.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE

As we understand it, the main issue involved in the telegraphers' strike is the question of collective bargaining. It appears that the Western Union has steadily opposed this method of meeting its employees. The day has gone by, however, when employers can successfully maintain this attitude. While the federal government has recognized the unions and while employers themselves organize for their mutual benefit and even to protect themselves against the demands of labor, why should they object to the employees exercising their legal right to organize for the promotion of their interests?

Postmaster Burleson has been opposed to collective bargaining and other principles upon which the success of labor unions largely depends. But neither Mr. Burleson, nor the Western Union, nor the telephone company, nor any other concern in this country can successfully maintain a stand in opposition to the conceded rights of labor. They may as well at once open their eyes to the fact that the times have changed and under the new conditions where co-operation and mutual respect between employer and employee must be depended upon to secure industrial peace, the people who refuse to recognize the rights of labor will be held responsible for whatever strikes or other labor troubles may result from their unjust attitude.

RESTING PLACES NEEDED

At Fort Hill park perhaps on more than any other public park of our city, is noticeable the lack of shade trees with benches on which people could rest and enjoy the fresh air. On the lower part of the park adjoining Rogers street, there are but few trees and very few benches on which anybody can sit down to rest. It is against the rules to sit on the grass so that when women and small children go there to enjoy the fresh air, they have to climb the hill before they can reach a shady place to rest without violating the rules. This, it seems, is a drawback which the park department should overcome as soon as its resources will permit.

The Boy Scout drive should get a final boost in Lowell today. It is reported that the drive has been somewhat of a disappointment through New England, although it should not be so. The Boy Scouts have done splendid work during the Liberty loan campaigns and the organization is one which can greatly benefit the boys who become members. In this as in the other drives, Lowell should keep up her creditable record.

The tramps are to be "educated" at a newly founded college for hoboes whose class rooms are located in the Bowery. J. Eads Howe of St. Louis, millionaire hobo, and one of the mildest spoken men, is to function as "prexy." It cannot be expected that he will teach students that permanent stones acquire the most moss.

Who says Ruth Law hasn't a good chance to negotiate the leap that Mr. Howling Lawler failed to conclude? Dare we hope so in the face of the fact that Danish Mary, loafing along in the north Atlantic, picked up Hawker and Grievie and bore them to safety?

WHAT GOOD IS WEALTH?

If you are in poor health, if almost everything that you eat distresses you, frequent headaches, pains in the stomach, bad taste in the mouth, dark rings under the eyes, etc., the fact is, you are not worth living if you are a chronic sufferer from indigestion and biliousness.

When the stomach is out of order, the liver not properly functioning, the heart is obliged to do so much extra work, that it causes palpitation, faintness, and if not checked becomes dangerous. To feel fresh and fit for your daily duties, you must keep your stomach well, your liver active, and the bowels regular; you can get into this healthy condition by taking SEVEN BARKS; as a digestive tonic, and stomach remedy, it has no equal, and 50 years of continuous sale proves its wonderful merit. Get at the root of your indigestion and constipation trouble by driving all poisons out of your system for good. No matter how chronic your case is, you can get quick relief by taking nature's remedy, SEVEN BARKS; one bottle costing 50c will prove its value. After you have proven its wonderful efficiency, you will never be without it. Ask your druggist for it.—Adv.

SEEN AND HEARD

A few very innocent typographical errors could make a golf story read so as to sell a lot of papers.

Think of the leading man in "Mickey" at the Opera House getting a big salary and doing nothing but making love to Mabel Normand. Here's a chance for the company to cut down on overhead expenses, cause we are willing to make love to Mabel for nothing. And better than that, we would pay the people something who made the picture.

Habits of Woodchucks

The male and female woodchucks live in separate holes always. The female has from two to six young, and when about two-thirds grown, she drives them from home, and they each dig out a home of their own. Two litters of young are raised yearly. One every 100 acres in the region where these men hunt there are 200 woodchucks, and they eat as much grass as the stock from which the farmer draws his living, according to the hunters. The woodchuck is very clean, and spends hours washing its fur with its tongue. It is very careful about getting wet and does not like to walk in the wet grass. Woodchuck meat is good to eat, tastes quite like chicken, is not strong or gamey, and the animal is in all its habits one of the cleanest of all beasts.—Hampshire Gazette.

The Fatal Flaw

"The Germans," said Senator Williams, "frankly pursued for 40 years a policy of fatal flaw in it."

"The Germans were like the chap who said in a sanctimonious tone one evening to his wife:

"How happy I am this evening, dear! I have done three good deeds today."

"What were they?" said his wife. "On the way to business," said he, "I saw a young woman weeping on a church step with a baby on her knee. I asked her what the trouble was and she said that she had walked seven miles to have her baby christened, and now found that she had lost her money on the way."

"I told her to cheer up, handed her a $5 bill, and bade her have the child christened and bring me the change. She did so—she did so gratefully—and thus, dear, I did three good deeds. I performed, first, an act of charity; I started, second, a little child in the way it should go, and I got, third, four good dollars for a bad five-spot."—Washington Star.

The Camping Party

To go, for the open road, the vaulted sky free of skyscrapers and chimneys, the winding dusty road, the babbling brooks and all that sort of summer stuff. Yo ho, for the good old-time camping party! Jim and Joe and Hank and Bob and yourself—the same old gang, bound for the same old place—the quiet, grassy nook near the old swimming pool where you had so many happy camping parties when you were all kids together. It's strange, when you get to the camping place, how small it looks and how wild, too. The grass seems rank and your mind wanders to thoughts of snakes—which it never did as a kid! Hank starts cursing because he finds he's forgotten his such a thing as a kid! At noon you all discover, to your infinite regret, that Bob had lost his supposed skill as a cook—which, come to think of it, you now feel that he never had. At night all the mosquitoes in the world make merry in your vicinity. Your bed is so dawkono hard you can't sleep. The next morning you're a wreck. Of course the party breaks up—the second day and you spend the rest of your vacation at a sanitarium resting up. But the trip is a great success anyhow, for what you suffer on it you more than make up for when you return to the job in the satisfaction you get in telling about the wonderful, wonderful time you had!

Our Flag

Let the sun of morning kiss it, let the evening sunset glow with it, let it be a warmth of love and gold it and it sets in depths below. Let the winds caress and fold it, let the suns in glory shine On the emblem of Our Country, loved as your flag, loved as mine.

Let the voices of our children sing the music of its soul. Chant its chorus, O ye people, till the mountain echoes roll. Sing and shout its hymn of Freedom, fling its spirit to the breeze. Till the notes are caught and answered in the hearts across the seas.

Let no thought or deed unworthy smirch its stripes of purest white. Let no strain of craven silence rob its red of lustre bright. Let no shame bedim the star-shine on its field of heavenly blue. For it's Our Flag, friend, it's Our Flag! I'm proud of it, are you?

CHARLES L. H. WAGNER.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Who won the war is a question that people still fail to agree on. We all know, of course, that the boys from Yankeland turned the trick, but was it the doughboys or the gobs who were mainly responsible for Fritz taking to his heels and ordering full steam ahead backwards? We dropped into a barber shop "other evening" and heard the matter thoroughly discussed by a boy in khaki and another in blue. Unfortunately, one of the boys was called to take his turn

In the "doughboy" chair before a decision was reached, and as he was being nearly smothered under a pile of steaming towels he had to call for a postponement. Here is the way they went at it.

Bluejacket—"Well, look us over, buddy. Nobody in the navy had to be drafted."

Doughboy—"Yes, but when you went you knew that the numbers was getting close. I heard you chinning about the war before you went and when you put on the big pants you wasn't looking for action."

B—"Well, neither was you guys. If they didn't take you where the war was, you'd never have seen it. I heard a lot of you birds chirping about wanting to go over, but the big holier to go across didn't start until Nov. 11."

D—"Well, you birds had it soft. Most of you was commutators and went home nights."

"Well, we brought you all over to the other side of the pond, didn't we?" "Yes, and the city government marched us to the railroad station, but that didn't stop no Germans."

"If it hadn't been for us you'd all have had to swim across."

"Aw, can that stuff. The English brought most of us over. You gobs think Belleau Woods is down back of Chebacco."

"Well, look at all the medals Admiral Sims has got. Guess he didn't get them working in the Q.M. out in some summer resort like Camp Kearney."

"Aw, he ain't got no decorations. Look at Sgt. York. He didn't lick no Germans shining brass rails. He's got so many decorations he looks like a walking hock shop. These gobs won't get no decorations until the G. A. R. pins flags on their graves."

"Is that so? Well, we brought a couple of millions over and not one of them got his feet wet. A couple of the men in the army was soldiers, but most of them was clerks in Brest and working so far behind the lines they didn't know what was doing till they got a letter from home."

"How many sailors was gassed?" "How many was killed?"

"What difference does that make? The sailors was all too healthy to get killed."

"You said it. This Daniels was running an excursion. He should have given you all a fishing line and make a regular outing out of it."

"Fishing line nothing. The gobs was shoveling coal and mopping decks all the time. They was on submarines and aeroplanes. Some of them was behind the biggest guns in France."

"Yes, they was, and believe me, they was a long way behind them. The Germans don't know what an American sailor looks like even."

"Well, they didn't treat you very rough. You look better now than you ever did. You gained 20 pounds and I only gained 10. And look at the marines. There's sailors for you. Who played the first game with Helme and beat him to it? Didn't they give the Germans merry hell at Shato Terry?"

"Aw, that gag is overworked. There was only two regiments of marines in the war. It was the old fighting 25 that gave the boches the first boot. They're the boys that throwed ripe tomatoes on the Kaiser's procession."

"Aw, you don't read the papers. Everybody knows that the marines started the Germans hot footing it for the Rhine. They didn't need many marines. They was used to fighting gobs and lickin' Germans was easy after that."

"Say, that stuff don't make no hit with me. The gobs had it soft. The war was in France and there was no gobs went to France except on shore leave. You sailors are a lot of dandies. Look at them white suits. You'd look fine going after Germans in that outfit. You was all dressed up like for a dance and the navy officers looked like fashion plates."

The barber interrupted the argument here, so it will probably never be known who got the decision. And yet both of these boys would lick the man who would stand up and say that either doughboy, bluejacket or devil dog failed to do a man's share in the big scrap.

What would you think of a circus that had only three horses, one lady, and no pink lemonade in it? The memory of most of us can go back far enough to the time when the advent of a little old one-ring circus to our town was an event of importance and enjoyment. Consequently, when I journeyed from Lowell up to North Chelmsford, to see what kind of a "show" Oscar Lowande of Reading was putting out this year, I did so hoping Oscar, who is one of the most famous equestrians in America himself, had done something to bring back good recollections of the old time one-ring affairs, when you could see the whole show without straining your eyes to watch three rinks at once. The old time hand is lacking.

But Lowande carries a herd of four elephants and they are the redeeming feature of his otherwise inferior little show. They do all the intelligent and wonderful things we shall see the big show elephants do here Monday when Barnum & Bailey-Ringling Brothers circus comes. Older citizens of North Chelmsford told me Thursday evening that it had been at least 10 years since any kind of a tent exhibition visited their part of the town and, consequently, their appetite for a good little show had been whetted to a fine edge. But they were disappointed that Oscar, perhaps doing the best he could, hadn't been able to do better and give them a better show. Lowande hastened from the route of the Great East Show on Earth going Thursday night to Graniteville.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL BOYS' OUTING

The fourth annual outing and field day of the boys' departments of the Lowell Vocational school was held at the Genoa club grounds in Tyngsboro yesterday and 85 happy youngsters forgot their hammers, saws and wrenches for the time being and entered with a vim into the well-balanced program of sports which had been arranged by Principal Thomas F. Fisher and the other members of the faculty.

The machine department carried away the major share of the day's honors, winning the baseball championship as well as scoring the highest number of points in the track events. The highest individual point winner was Prindleville, and this youngster carried away the coveted trophy, a handsome silver cup. His total was 16 points, Gallagher coming second with 13, and McInnis third with 11.

The boys made the trip to the grounds in automobiles, arriving shortly after 9 o'clock. Three red hot ball games were the main events of the forenoon's program. The machine and electrical departments looked horns in the first contest, the machinists winning out to the tune of 10 to 7.

Then the automobile department and a team of "all stars," recruited from different branches of the school went at it hammer and tongs, and the umpire was one of the busiest men in Middlesex county for over an hour. The auto boys came out on the long end of a 4 to 3 score, but they had to extend themselves to the limit to get the decision.

The last game before lunch was between the smaller boys of the school representing the auto and machine departments, and here again the machine workers proved their superiority by winning handily, 16 to 13.

Then came luncheon and $5 very dry and dusty boys fell to with a will. The boys had brought lunch baskets with them, and between the dairies which "ma" had packed neatly inside, and the ice cream and tonic furnished by the faculty, a most-enjoyable repast was recorded.

A series of track events was the feature of the afternoon, these including a shot put, 100 yard dash, high and running broad jump. Separate events were held for both the small and the larger contestants, the older boys being known as Class A and the younger group, Class B.

The final events of the day were two ball games in which the machinists and auto departments of Class A tied up in a championship struggle while the electrical and machine departments of Class B went at it on the other side of the grounds. The Class A machine nine won by a score of 17 to 7, while on the other side of the lot the Class B electricians handed their opponents a thrashing, 24 to 4.

The homeward trip was completed without incident late in the afternoon, and both the boys and the faculty were unanimous in stating that the event was a big success in every way. The faculty wishes to extend their thanks to the Knights of Columbus, through whose kindness the grounds have been loaned to the boys each season for the past four years.

The outing was given by the members of the faculty, assisted by the following pupils: Miller and Billingsley of the machine department, Burke and Mason of the auto department, Clark and Mason of the electrical department, Egan and Lorange of the carpentry department.

League Means World Peace

evidently referring to the fighting between British and Russian warships in the Baltic. "When Lord Robert was naming the framers of the league covenant, a man shouted 'What about Ireland?'"

Ireland Ably Represented

Lord Robert quickly retorted: "Ireland was ably represented. If I may say so, by General Smuts and myself."

The audience warmly cheered the speaker's arguments for admitting Germany to the league, but the applause was punctuated by cries of protest, one voice shouting: "You bloody traitor!"

The audience shouted: "Put him out!" and cheered loudly when the man was ejected.

Viscount Gray made an eloquent appeal for the people in conjunction with the people of other nations to give life and reality to the league, now that the governments have completed their parts in it.

Choice Between Life and Death

"We fought for an ideal during the war," he said, "cannot we fight for an ideal after the war? Great Britain has been great in war she must be great in peace. Refuse to listen to those who regard the league as an impracticable ideal. It is a choice between life and death to the world. Any future war will be vastly more terrible than the last, owing to inventions and the progress of science. Hence, there is need that we work for an ideal, namely world peace."

A Living Organism

Lord Robert, who spoke for nearly an hour, said that nobody would claim the covenant of the League of Nations was perfect. "But it is a living organism," he continued, "which will grow and adapt itself to requirements. There is a charge that the league is an organization which favors the British empire, but such critics have forgotten that virtually no important decision is possible without the consent of the council, in which there is no probability whatever that the British empire will ever have more than one vote."

Must Include Germany and Russia

"If the league is to be a reality, Germany and Russia must be included, because if these powerful nations are excluded they will be driven into intrigues against the league. Moreover, the league must be a league of nations, not of governments."

British Advocacy Not Selfish

Lord Robert argued that British advocacy of the league was not selfish. "She, perhaps, has less need of the league than any other nation. Her European position is relatively stronger than ever it has been in her history. Her fleet is unbeaten and more powerful than before the war. Her army is larger and better trained than ever and even on the economic side, she is in better condition than those who before the war were described as her rivals. In regard to Germany's admission to the league, reasonable guarantees of the sincerity of German professions are necessary and a certain novitiate is needed, but the shorter that novitiate can be safely made the better. I see no reason why it should be more than a few months."

R.R.'S CUT EXTRA TRAINS

Reduce Excursion Trains to Minimum So as Not to Delay Return of Soldiers

WASHINGTON, June 14.—So as not to interfere with the transportation of soldiers now returning from France in ever-increasing numbers, Director General Hines today ordered that railroad equipment for excursion and recreation purposes be limited to an absolute minimum. Among permits for special equipment cancelled was one for 70 coaches and Pullmans to be operated by the New York Central from New York to accommodate persons, who wished to see the Willard-Dempsey fight, July 4.

Extraordinary Sale at Public Auction

The well known Percy Parker property at the corner of Bridge and West Fourth Street, comprising a block of seven stores, being Nos. 430-434-438-442-446-450-454-458 on Bridge Street, and dwelling house at No. 15 West Fourth Street, pledged at absolute auction sale in two parcels on Wednesday, the twenty-fifth day of June, 1919, commencing promptly at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with the Bridge Street property and following immediately with the dwelling on West Fourth Street.

THE FIRST PARCEL

A one story structure on the corner of West Fourth street, and Bridge street, containing seven stores. The stores are of good dimensions, have splendid show windows, have gas, city water, toilets, etc., rear entrances to a private store property on a business street. The lot has a splendid frontage on Bridge street of about 160 feet and a frontage of about 36 feet on West Fourth street, and a total area of about 13,350 square feet. This parcel of property being exclusively one of stores with almost no expense in building, such as one store in ordinary retailing. Property makes it exceptionally attractive for purposes of investment. Its location is ideal, being strictly main street business property—in fact almost a downtown property, being within seven or eight minutes' walk from the very centre of Lowell, Merrimack Square.

THE SECOND PARCEL

At No. 15 West Fourth street, a three story slated roof dwelling, containing eighteen rooms, bath, hot and cold water, pantry, butler's pantry, laundry with set wash boiler, built-in refrigerator, steam heat, gas, sewer, etc. This property could, with a reasonable outlay, be converted into an attractive apartment house. It is built of the heaviest and highest grade of frame construction, sets up from the street grade with granite wall and steps as an approach and is on a lot of about 5405 square feet, with frontage on the street of about 72 feet.

With the demand for houses, tenements, etc., so great and with the almost impossible opportunity to secure one, and with this property's proximity to Merrimack Square, to the various large factories, shops, etc., and with the practical elimination of electric car fares, builders and investors, as well as home seekers should be especially interested.

This sale is of unusual importance. A practically down town property, and all of the first parcel exclusively a store property, one that has a splendid future from the investor's standpoint, a property that can be made to yield a much greater revenue. Again this sale is most attractive. From the viewpoint of improvement to the dwelling property. With the constant demand for homes, this parcel should, with its many opportunities for changes, especially appeal to the investor. Also a chance to buy at open competition, a business block, on a principal street, and a dwelling house, is seldom offered.

TERMS: $1500 must be paid to the auctioneer on the first parcel just as soon as the property is struck off. $500 deposit will be required on the second parcel just as soon as struck off.

By Order of PERCY PARKER.

K. OF C. CHAIRMAN SAILS

Wm. Mulligan Off For Europe—To Return With Card. Mercier in the Fall

NEW YORK, June 14.—William Mulligan, chairman of the Knights of Columbus committee on war activities, was a passenger on the Mauretania when she sailed today. Mr. Mulligan expects to return in the autumn with Cardinal Mercier, the Belgian prelate, as the guest of the organization in this country.

From England Mr. Mulligan will go to France, where he will resume direction of the Knights of Columbus work among the men of the American Expeditionary Forces. There are still about 400 Knights of Columbus on duty with the army of occupation, he said.

LOWELL NURSE BACK FROM FRANCE

Miss Regina Berger, daughter of Mrs. Dunas of 9 Mt. Vernon street, a registered nurse, has returned from overseas service with the American Red Cross. The young woman is spending a brief furlough in this city after which she will resume her work as district nurse in Manchester, N. H., pending another call for overseas service, for upon her landing in New York she re-enlisted in the service and is now on the reserve list.

Miss Berger graduated from the State infirmary in Tewksbury in 1911 and since that time has been engaged in her profession. For some time she was connected with a sanatorium in this state and later after successfully passing a civil service examination, she was sent to Panama, where she remained seven months in the service of Uncle Sam. Upon her return to Lowell she secured employment as a district nurse in Manchester, N. H., and it was in that city that she enlisted with the Red Cross.

The young woman went to France last October and in November when the armistice was signed she was in London. She returned to France and was assigned to a tuberculosis hospital at Plessis-Robinson, where the biggest part of her work consisted of interviewing. She has been on duty in various parts of France and Italy and during her stay in Europe she visited many points of interest, including the Chateau d'Artagnan.

Miss Berger sailed from Marseilles aboard the "Canada" and made the voyage to this country by way of Africa, stopping four days in Algiers. She landed in New York after being 18 days on sea and before leaving the headquarters of the American Red Cross she re-enlisted and her name is one of the first on the reserve list for a second trip to Europe.

NEWS OF THE DAY

IN POLICE COURT

That she stole his roll of $35 and to make matters worse appropriated a suit case containing several bottles of liquor while he was asleep was the story related to Judge Pickman in police court today by Kenneth Huard when he took the stand in the case against Alice Merrill, who was charged with larceny and drunkenness. After hearing both sides of the story, the court sentenced the woman to two months in jail.

Joe Says "Not Guilty"

Joseph Connolly was arraigned in police court today on a complaint charging him with robbing the till in the ticket office of the Strand theatre. Joseph said there must be a mistake somewhere and the case was continued until Wednesday, with bail set at $200.

Miss Corinne Regnier was in charge of the ticket booth yesterday afternoon when Joe came out of the theatre. She didn't have a chance to give an alarm, she told the police, and after grabbing the money Joe beat it with all possible speed.

Officers Nelson and Conroy were notified of the affair, and picked Joe up early in the evening. Miss Regnier was called to the station and identified him as the culprit, but Joe refused to admit that he was guilty.

Larceny of Clothes

Larceny of clothes, valued at approximately $80, was the charge upon which Emile Lessard pleaded guilty. The young man has been employed for some time in a Central street clothing store, and according to the proprietor, has been helping himself to some of the latest models in up-to-date wearing apparel for the past few weeks.

With the understanding that restitution will be made for the articles taken, Lessard's case was continued for one month.

Allan Maker pleaded guilty to stealing a quart of milk from Manuel Nunes, a local milk dealer, and was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail.

A suspended sentence of one month in jail was also meted out to Thomas Ragan, who was present on a drunkenness charge. It was alleged that Ragan attempted to borrow "two bits" from Frank Farrell last evening, and because he failed to get it, he bounced his good right arm off Frank's jaw.

Leo Paradis was charged with the larceny of $5 from John E. Durkin. According to Durkin's story, Paradis had offered to locate his automobile, which had been stolen some months ago, in consideration of $5. He gave Leo the money, he said, but defendant had failed to bring back the missing car. He had also refused to return the money, Durkin said. Paradis was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $50. He appealed.

GET BASEBALL FEVER

PARIS, Friday, June 13.—The Czechoslovakian mission here has been studying sports and has caught the baseball fever. The members will carry home with them a number of baseball outfits and will seek to introduce the game in the new republic.

Baseball still being a strictly American game, Canada alone will dispute the championship with a team from the United States army in the inter-allied games, which will begin on June 24.

MEXICAN REBELS

FAIL TO MAKE GOOD

JUAREZ, Mexico, June 14.—The rebels under General Angeles in this vicinity failed to make good their threat to attack Juarez early today. Federal scouts, who during the night crept out beyond the entrenchments, reported small parties of rebels in the vicinity of the race track, and the agricultural college, a few miles from the city.

BOY BURNED TO DEATH

EXETER, N. H., June 14.—Forest Murphy, aged 17 years, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed his father's bakery, here early today. The young man was asleep in the bakery at the time and failed to hear his brother Herbert cry a warning, as he dashed out of the flaming building to call the firemen. The blaze, caused by a kettle of grease catching fire, damaged a meat store, barber shop and two tenements overhead to the extent of $5000.

BUILD SHIPS FOR FRANCE

The contest was in four heats at 10, 20, 30 and 50 miles. Cash prizes aggregating $35,000 served to bring forward an unusual array of drivers. Preceding the main event a 25-mile race for the American amateur title and a 20-mile contest for non-stock cars was on the program. The contestants were:

Ralph de Palma, Dario Resta, Thos. Hillton, Ira Vail, Ralph Mulford, Louis Chevrolet, Joe Thomas, Ray Howard, J. M. Reynolds, Dave Lewis, Dennis Hickey and Joe Boyer.

Foch Sends an Ultimatum

and they would virtually have this period, counting the three days' notice which must be given, under the terms of the armistice, before hostilities may be resumed.

May Delay Delivery

It is possible, however, that there may be some delay in presenting the treaty. "Smaller nations are reported to be demanding that the pact be considered in a plenary session before being sent to the Germans. If this were conceded, a postponement of the delivery probably would be forced. The heads of the great powers are declared in Paris despatches to be convinced that the Germans will accept the revised terms.

Labor Covenant Altered

A further modification of the treaty is announced in today's despatches. The labor covenant has been altered in some respects not yet stated.

Poles Reconciled to Plebiscite

The Poles are said to be considering in a more favorable light the proposed plebiscite in Silesia, which will determine the future sovereignty of that region. "They have," it is said, been given informal assurances that American troops will, if possible, be assigned to the plebiscite district to see that the voting is done fairly and that the voters are not intimidated.

Foch Sends Ultimatum to Hunns

Germany having stopped the movement of General Haller's troops from France to Poland, which has for the past six weeks been going on over German soil, Marshal Foch, it is reported, has sent an ultimatum to the German armistice commission at Spa demanding that the troop trains which are being held up be started once more on their way to Poland. Germany's action is due to the alleged fact that the Poles intend to distribute some of Haller's men along the German frontier.

Chinese Cabinet Resigns

The Chinese cabinet has resigned as a result of the popular movement against ministers alleged to be pro-Japanese in sympathies. The president also has intimated that he intends to quit office, but it is said parliament will decline to accept his resignation.

Vickers-Vimy Biplane "Hops Off" on Transatlantic Flight

BOMBER STARTS FROM ST. JOHN'S

Capt. Alcock, a Britisher, Pilot, and Lt. Brown, an American, Navigator

Plane Equipped With Powerful Wireless—Pilot Pioneer in Aviation

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 14.—The Vickers-Vimy biplane started on its transatlantic flight at 4:13 o'clock this afternoon (Greenwich time).

The Vickers-Vimy machine carried two men, Capt. Jack Alcock, a Britisher, as pilot, and Lieut. Arthur Whitten Brown, an American, as navigator.

A wireless telegraph set, capable of sending and receiving messages over comparatively long distances, is part of the plane's equipment.

Pilot Pioneer Aviator

Capt. Jack Alcock, the pilot, was among the British pioneers in aviation. He obtained his flying certificate in 1912 and joined the Royal naval air service immediately upon the outbreak of the war. He acted as an instructor at first, but was later sent to the Turkish front, where he held the record for long distance bombing raids. He was later captured by the Turks and held prisoner until the armistice was signed.

Lt. Brown War Veteran

Lieut. Arthur Whitten Brown, navigator of the plane, also is a veteran of the war, having served first as an infantry officer and later in the British aviation corps, until an accident to the machine in which he was an observer late in 1915 forced a descent in German territory where he was wounded and made a prisoner.

Lieut. Brown's first notable exploit was in a plane in which he was acting as senior observer. A shell set the machine afire 5000 feet above the German positions and while the pilot raced to reach the British lines Brown fought the flames to prevent ignition of the ammunition, succeeding after nearly all his clothes had been burned off. During another air cruise, he helped to bring down an enemy Albatross, and in November of the war's second year, he set out, in a squadron, on a long distance reconnaissance from which his plane did not return. The carburetor froze and when the pilot landed far within the German lines, Brown, unable to strap himself in because he was busy destroying papers of military importance, was catapulted into the fuselage and had to be cut out. One thigh was dislocated, one leg broken and his hip cut.

After what he described as the "kindest treatment" in German hospitals, the aviator was transferred to a prison camp, eventually being in.

PRIV. HARRINGTON WAS KILLED IN ACTION

About four months ago Mrs. Lillian Harrington of this city was notified that her husband, Private Bernard Harrington, Co. 1, 60th U. S. Infantry, whose Lowell home was 74 Maple street, was missing in action. The wife has daily been hoping against hope that a message would come saying that he had turned up somewhere in the war zone or among repatriated German prisoners.

But after this long wait of four months—four months of suspense and anxiety—last night a telegram was received by Mrs. Harrington from the war department at her home, 352 Broadway, saying that her husband, reported missing in action as of Oct. 4, was now officially reported as having been killed in action on that date. Priv. Harrington is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Edward Burke and Mrs. Hugh McQuade, both of Lowell, and two brothers, John and James E. also of Lowell. It has now been 14 months since he left to go overseas. He was enlisted in Lowell Sept. 27, 1917. He was a service six months overseas.

PLAN $1,000,000 HOTEL

Rumor Has It That Boston Men Plan To Build Big Hotel Here

If a report going the rounds today has any foundation of fact Lowell is due for a $1,000,000 hotel. It is understood the site selected is the area now occupied by the Old Washington Tavern on back Central street and bounded on one side by Church street and on the other by Green street. Not only must the land now occupied by the Old Washington Tavern property be utilized but to build the hotel now in contemplation land immediately in the rear of the tavern must be utilized.

The men behind the new hotel proposition are understood to represent a group of Boston financiers who have money to invest. It is intimated that as a building can be erected in Lowell at about 25 per cent. less than it would cost if erected for the same purpose in Boston, this feature has interested the Boston financiers. It is said it has been proposed to have the new hotel owned by a stock company and already some Lowell men of means have been invited to subscribe for stock or to at least signify if they would be in a receptive mind to take stock, if negotiations progressed far enough so that they were assured an option on the land needed had been obtained and plans for a good hotel prepared.

It is expected an announcement of a more definite character carrying interesting details may be made next week.

LOST MANY AIRPLANES AND BALLOONS

WASHINGTON, June 14.—American fliers inflicted on the Germans double the loss they suffered in airplanes and balloons. An official report today announced that 755 German planes and 71 balloons had been destroyed, while the American losses were 357 planes and 43 balloons, only victories which have been absolutely confirmed being credited to American fliers.

U. S. ARMY IS TWO THIRDS DEMOBILIZED

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The army in only two-thirds demobilized, the war department announced today, and it will take more than three months to complete the work at the present rate of 357,000 discharges a month.

On June 10, the strength of the army was 1,232,625, with 644,000 in France and Germany, 88,000 en route to the United States and 406,000 in the United States. More than 2,500,000 men have been discharged, of whom 1,250,000 were brought back from overseas.

During the first 10 days of June 10,000 soldiers were embarked from France, a new record.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT OF PARIS STRIKE

PARIS, June 14.—Intervention by government officials in the strike situation has aroused hopes of a settlement soon. However, it is doubtful whether the claims of the miners can be satisfied before they put into effect their decision to go on a general strike Monday.

A general strike of the miners would have a serious effect on authority and business but the situation would be graver still should the organization known as the Inter-union trust which includes the railroad workers, registered seamen, metal workers and transportation workers in addition to the miners, carry out this decision to walk out in sympathy with the miners.

The inter-union trust, however, has subordinated its action to instructions from the General Labor Federation, and the question of a sympathetic strike probably will be settled at a meeting today of the executive committee of the federation.

Representatives of the French, Italian, British and Belgian labor organizations were to meet here today to decide on a simultaneous 24-hour general strike in the four countries as a protest against intervention in Russia and to obtain full amnesty and rapid demobilization. It appeared early today that only the Italian representatives would meet with the French, British and Belgian labor organizations having declined to participate.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

Merrimack Street Store To Change Hands—Hotel Sale Reported—Other Rumors

Although the last step in the transaction will not be taken for a day or two it was admitted this morning by the persons involved that A. M. Nelson, candy dealer, has leased the store of the Dickson's Tea Store Co., 55 Merrimack street, in the Wyman's Exchange building, and will occupy the premises shortly after September 1, the date of the expiration of the present lease.

The Dickson company has occupied the store for 30 odd years and for the past few years and until three months ago, A. M. Nelson conducted a candy department in conjunction with it. Mr. Nelson moved his business to Central street on or about the first of March, however, but will now move back again, occupying the entire store. David Dickson said today that he had no plans for the future.

Another real estate transaction of considerable magnitude, which further endorses the belief that downtown property is undergoing a widespread change of ownership, and which caused the circulation of persistent rumor today, was the reported sale of the Waverly Hotel property, recently acquired by Dudley L. Page, to the New 12 Smith Hardware Co. of Market street. Although it was admitted that thoughts of the sale have been entertained and that some preliminary steps toward the transfer have been made, it was denied that the actual transaction has been closed. In speaking of the sale, Mr. Smith said today that if the property was purchased it would be for the purpose of occupancy.

It has been rumored for some time that eventually the Liggett Drug Co. will move its store across the street to occupy the store now maintained by John T. Finnegan, Jeweler and the Snyder Co. hatlers, in the Wyman's Exchange building and the rumor was very prevalent again today, but as far as could be learned it had no solid foundation. Neither lease expires until December 1 and the present occupants need not be notified, under the terms, until September 1. All business transactions of the Liggett Co. emanate from the New York offices and as yet they have given out nothing definite.

LOW DEATH RATE HERE THIS WEEK

The lowest death rate that Lowell has had in nearly two years is that reported for the week ending today by the board of health. There were only 13 deaths this week. The records show that during the week ending July 14, 1917, there were only 13 deaths.

The rate for this week is 3.57 in comparison with 16.85 and 12.52 for the two previous weeks. There were five deaths of children under five years of age, and of these four were of children under one. There were four deaths caused by infectious diseases and one by pneumonia, one by cerebro spinal meningitis and three by tuberculosis.

Infectious diseases reported were: Diphtheria, 3; scarlet fever, 3; measles, 7; cerebro spinal meningitis, 1; and tuberculosis, 5.

LEAGUE MEANS WORLD PEACE

Campaign To Popularize League of Nations Launched by British Union

Choice Between Life and Death, Says Gray—Speakers in Eloquent Appeals

Pres. Wilson's Name Vigorously Cheered at Enthusiastic Meeting in London

LONDON, Friday, June 13.—A campaign to popularize the League of Nations was launched tonight by the British League of Nations union at a meeting that packed Albert hall, Viscount Grey presided. The principal address was made by Lord Robert Cecil, the other speakers being John Robert Clynes, former food controller; Dr. Alexander Irving, archbishop of Canterbury and Dr. John Clifford. John W. Davis, American ambassador, was present, and Vice Admiral David Beatty was in attendance.

Applied Wilson's Name

All the speakers dwelt on the necessity for united and zealous popular support to make the league a reality. Lord Robert Cecil, in the course of a powerful and eloquent discussion and defense of the league, twice referred to President Wilson, being vigorously applauded.

The enthusiasm of the audience for the league was in evidence throughout Lord Robert's speech but occasionally there were attempts to interrupt him. Several men in the gallery unfurled a red flag inscribed "Warships are Fighting a Socialist Republic."

SUPPLEMENTARY BUDGET

City Council Will Have To Adopt One To Pay the Wage Increases

From all indications now prevalent at city hall the municipal council will be obliged to adopt a supplementary budget this year if the various wage increases asked for this week by employees in several of the departments are to be granted.

The council has not yet taken any definite action which would indicate whether the raises are favored. This is scheduled to come at next Tuesday's meeting. However, if the increases are granted it will mean that some 500 employees will be affected and the average increase will be 50 cents per day. The City Tramesters' and Municipal Employees' unions as well as members of the police department have all asked for an increase of 15 per cent. Members of the latter department receive $4 per day and the wages of the teamsters and municipal employees run from $3.50 to $4 per day.

In addition, it is reported that many of the clerks at city hall are planning to "get in" on the new budget if it is put through, and it is estimated that if all the increases wanted are granted an additional appropriation of some $75,000 will be needed. The council adopted a supplementary budget last July to provide for increases in various departments and this totalled something more than $100,000 for the remaining six months of last year.

SKEELS MURDER TRIAL

Burton S. Flagg, Administrator of Gay Estate, Recalled as Witness

LAWRENCE, June 14.—Burton S. Flagg, administrator of the estate of Miss Florence W. Gay, for whose death by poisoning Mrs. Bessie M. Skeels Lundgren is undergoing trial on a charge of murder, was recalled as a witness today. He testified that the property included a quantity of jewelry and he was asked regarding correspondence which he had with Mrs. Skeels about two missing diamond rings. The prosecution contends that the defendant while engaged as a nurse in the Gay home stole several articles. Under cross-examination, the witness produced a letter from Mrs. Skeels dated six months after the rings, she wrote that Miss Gay's father had told her he was not sure his daughter ever owned a diamond ring.

Mrs. Skeels also wrote that she had given some jewelry to Mrs. Luce. James Chandler, colored, who cared for the furnace at the Gay house, said that Mrs. Skeels had told him she had heard strange noises and had seen some one running about the house.

He said he found a number of bottles in the room he cleaned up. Miss Gay's death and was asked to describe them. He never saw Miss Gay give Mrs. Skeels any articles. She had on one occasion given him two mattresses, he said, and he said that he might have taken some goods from the Gay house to Mrs. Skeels' room.

Mrs. Albert Wilkins, with the murder of whose husband the defendant is also charged, testified briefly to seeing her sister-in-law attending her husband in his illness. Witness was excused to be recalled later.

Albert Gustaf, a Taxicabman, N. J. "unmistakably" testified that he "sold" a poisonous solution of sugar of lead to Mrs. Skeels, who said she wanted it for a rash which had appeared since she had been in Massachusetts. He said she told him she knew how to use it and wanted it for external application only. He had marked it poison.

At this point the court adjourned till Monday morning.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE

Company Officials Reiterate Claim Strike a Failure—Unions Report More Out

NEW YORK, June 14.—Despite claims by Percy Thomas, deputy international president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union that the number of strikers was growing, officials of the Western Union and Postal Companies renewed today their assertion that the strike had failed and that many strikers were returning to work. Traffic conditions, they said, were normal.

Telegrams Piled Up

CHICAGO, June 14.—Leaders of the nation-wide strike of commercial telegraphers declared today that reports had been received showing that heavy files of Western Union telegrams were piled up at relay points because of refusal of railroad telegraphers to handle commercial business. After officials of the Western Union Telegraph Co. had declared the railroad operators were not following the order, and that business was normal, S. J. Kouenkamp, international president of the telegraphers, said not a commercial message had moved on the Missouri Pacific, that definite reports showed hundreds of towns in Iowa, Illinois and other nearby states were without telegraphic service, and that all outlying districts would be likewise affected by night.

Strike leaders claimed that more than 22,000 workers were out; that pickets were inducing telephone girls throughout the country to join the strike called for Monday by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and that the result of the referendum being taken by the brokers' division of the Telegraphers' union would be known probably next Tuesday.

Strike in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—Reports to headquarters of the Order of Railway Telegraphers here today, indicated that the 80,000 members of the organization had strictly complied with instructions to discontinue handling business of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

This action, according to officials of the order, completely ties up commercial telegrams in 23,000 offices in smaller towns throughout the country.

INFORMAL OBSERVANCE OF FLAG DAY

Today was a Flag day and was observed informally in Lowell by the display of the Stars and Stripes from residences and business establishments. The only formal observance of the day will come this evening when the Lowell lodge of Elks will hold brief exercises in their hall in Middle street. The general public is invited to attend. One of the fortunate fundaments of Elksdom is respect for the flag and every lodge is required to have some observance of Flag day annually. This evening's exercises will begin at 8 o'clock and will be of an informal nature.

DUBLIN, June 14.—Countess Markievicz, a Sinn Fein leader and member of parliament, was arrested here yesterday. She was taken to Cork under escort.

Countess Markievicz has been the leading figure of the Sinn Fein movement. She took part in the Easter rebellion in 1916 and was sentenced to penal servitude for the role she played. She was released under the general amnesty, but was rearrested in May, 1918, and interned. She was again released early this year.

The countess, who is a sister of Sir Josslyn Gore-Booth, is the first woman ever elected to the house of commons. Laurence Ginnell, also a Sinn Fein member of parliament, was arrested in Dublin on May 30. On June 7 he was sentenced at Mullingar to four months' imprisonment for inciting to disorder at Athlone.

League Means World Peace

Continued

evidently referring to the fighting between British and Russian warships in the Baltic. When Lord Robert was naming the framers of the league covenant, a man shouted "What about Ireland?"

Ireland Alike Represented

Lord Robert quickly retorted: "Ireland was ably represented, if I may say so, by General Smuts and myself."

The audience warmly cheered the speaker's arguments for admitting Germany to the league, but the applause was punctuated by cries of protest, one voice shouting: "You bloody traitor!"

The audience shouted: "Put him out!" and cheered loudly when the man was ejected.

Viscount Gray made an eloquent appeal for the people in conjunction with the people of other nations to give life and reality to the league, now that the governments have completed their parts in it.

Choice Between Life and Death

"We fought for an ideal during the war," he said, "cannot we fight for an ideal after the war? Great Britain has been great in war she must be great in peace. Refuse to listen to those who regard the league as an impracticable ideal. It is a choice between life and death to the world. Any future war will be vastly more terrible than the last, owing to inventions and the progress of science. Hence, there is need that we work for an ideal, namely world peace."

A Living Organism

Lord Robert, who spoke for nearly an hour, said that nobody would claim the covenant of the League of Nations was perfect. "But it is a living organism," he continued, "which will grow and adapt itself to requirements. There is a charge that the league is an organization which favors the British empire, but such critics have forgotten that virtually no important decision is possible without the consent of the council, in which there is no probability whatever that the British empire will ever have more than one vote."

Must Include Germany and Russia

"If the league is to be a reality, Germany and Russia must be included, because if these powerful nations are excluded they will be driven into intrigues against the league. Moreover, the league must be a league of nations, not of governments."

British Advocacy Not Selfish

Lord Robert argued that British advocacy of the league was not selfish. "She, perhaps, has less need of the league than any other nation. Her European position is relatively stronger than ever it has been in her history. Her fleet is unbroken and more powerful than before the war. Her army is larger and better trained than ever and even on the economic side, she is in better condition than those who before the war were described as her rivals. In regard to Germany's admission to the league, reasonable guarantees of the sincerity of German professions are necessary and a certain novitiate is needed, but the shorter that novitiate can be safely made the better. I see no reason why it should be more than a few months."

WALTER E. GUYETTE, Auctioneer

Office, 53 Central Street, Lowell, Mass. Telephone 2415

Extraordinary Sale at Public Auction

The well known Percy Parker property at the corner of Bridge and West Fourth Street, comprising a block of seven stores, being Nos. 430-434-438-442-446-450-454-458 on Bridge Street, and dwelling house at No. 15 West Fourth Street, pledged at absolute auction sale in two parcels on Wednesday, the twenty-fifth day of June, 1919, commencing promptly at 3 o'clock in the afternoon with the Bridge Street property and following immediately with the dwelling on West Fourth Street.

THE FIRST PARCEL

A one story structure on the corner of West Fourth street, and Bridge street, containing seven stores. The stores are of good dimensions, have splendid show windows, have gas, city water, toilets, etc., rear entrance to an open 20 foot passage-way for unloading of merchandise, have an abundance of light and air and are all rented to very desirable tenants some of whom have been located on the premises many years. The property has an income of $177.50 per month, $2130 per year, which is admitted an exceptionally low rental for the property on one main business street. The lot has a splendid frontage on Bridge street of about 160 feet and a frontage of about 86 feet on West Fourth street, and a total area of about 22,320 square feet. This parcel of property being exclusively one of stores will almost no expense attached for repairs, such as any other ordinary renting property, makes it exceptionally attractive for purposes of investment. Its location is ideal, being strictly main street business property—in fact almost a downtown property, being within seven or eight minutes' walk from the very center of Lowell, Merrimack Square.

THE SECOND PARCEL

At No. 15 West Fourth street, a three story slated roof dwelling, containing eighteen rooms, bath, hot and cold water, pantry, butler's pantry, laundry with set wash boiler, built-in refrigerator, steam heat, gas, sewer, etc. This property could, with a reasonable outlay, be converted into an attractive apartment house; it is built of the heaviest and highest grade of frame construction, set up from the street grade with granite wall and steps as an approach and is on a lot of about 5105 square feet, with frontage on the street of about 73 feet.

With the demand for houses, tenements, etc., so great and with the almost impossible opportunity to secure one, and with this property's proximity to Merrimack Square, to the various large factories, shops, etc., and with the practical elimination of electric car fares, builders and investors, as well as home seekers should be especially interested.

And all of the first parcel exclusively a store property, one that has a splendid future from the investor's standpoint, a property that can be made to yield a much greater revenue than this sale is most attractive. From the view point of improvement to the dwelling property. With the constant demand for homes, this parcel should, with its many opportunities for changes, especially appeal to the investor. Also a chance to buy at open competition, a business block, on a principal street, and a dwelling house, is seldom offered.

TERMS: $1500 must be paid to the auctioneer on the first parcel just as soon as the property is struck off. $500 deposit will be required on the second parcel just as soon as struck off.

By Order of PERCY PARKER.

K. OF C. CHAIRMAN SAILS

Wm. Mulligan Off For Europe—To Return With Card. Mercier in the Fall

NEW YORK, June 14.—William Mulligan, chairman of the Knights of Columbus committee on war activities, was a passenger on the Mauretania when she sailed today. Mr. Mulligan expects to return in the autumn with Cardinal Mercier, the Belgian prelate, as the guest of the organization in this country.

From England Mr. Mulligan will go to France, where he will resume direction of the Knights of Columbus work among the men of the American Expeditionary Forces. There are still about 400 Knights of Columbus on duty with the army of occupation, he said.

LOWELL NURSE BACK FROM FRANCE

Miss Regina Berger, daughter of Mrs. Dumas of 9 Mt. Vernon street, a registered nurse, has returned from overseas service with the American Red Cross. The young woman is spending a brief furlough in this city after which she will resume her work as district nurse in Manchester, N. H., pending another call for overseas service, for upon her landing in New York she re-enlisted in the service and is now on the reserve list.

Miss Berger graduated from the State Infirmary in Tewksbury in 1914 and since that time has been engaged at her profession. For some time she was connected with a sanatorium in this state and later after successfully passing a civil service examination, she was sent to Panama, where she remained seven months in the service of Uncle Sam. Upon her return to Lowell she secured employment as a district nurse in Manchester, N. H., and it was in that city that she enlisted with the Red Cross.

The young woman went to France last October and in November when the armistice was signed she was in London. She returned to France and was assigned to a tuberculosis hospital at Plessis-Robinson, where the biggest part of her work consisted of interviewing patients and their families. She has been on duty in various parts of France and Italy and during her stay in Europe she visited many points of interest, including the Chateau d'Artagnan.

Miss Berger sailed from Marseilles aboard the "Canada" and made the voyage to this country by way of Africa, stopping four days in Algeria. She landed in New York after being 18 days on sea and before leaving the headquarters of the American Red Cross she re-enlisted and her name is one of the first on the reserve list for a second trip to Europe.

NEWS OF THE DAY

IN POLICE COURT

That she stole his roll of $35 and to make matters worse appropriated a suit case containing several bottles of liquor while he was asleep was the story related to Judge Pickman in police court today by Kenneth Huard when he took the stand in the case against Alice Merrill, who was charged with larceny and drunkenness. After hearing both sides of the story, the court sentenced the woman to two months in jail.

Joe Says "Not Guilty"

Joseph Connolly was arraigned in police court today on a complaint charging him with robbing the till in the ticket office of the Strand theatre. Joseph said there must be a mistake somewhere and the case was continued until Wednesday, with bail set at $200.

Miss Corinne Regnier was in charge of the ticket booth yesterday afternoon when Joe came out of the theatre. She didn't have a chance to give an alarm, she told the police, and after grabbing the money Joe beat it with all possible speed.

Officers Nelson and Conroy were notified of the affair, and picked Joe up early in the evening. Miss Regnier was called to the station and identified him as the culprit, but Joe refused to admit that he was guilty.

Larceny of Clothes

Larceny of clothes, valued at approximately $30, was the charge upon which Emile Lessard pleaded guilty. The young man has been employed for some time in a Central street clothing store, and according to the proprietor, has been helping himself to some of the latest models in up-to-date wearing apparel for the past few weeks.

With the understanding that restitution will be made for the articles taken, Lessard's case was continued for one month.

Allan Maker pleaded guilty to stealing a quart of milk from Manuel Nunes, a local milk dealer, and was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail.

A suspended sentence of one month in jail was also meted out to Thomas Itagan, who was present on a drunkenness charge. It was alleged that Itagan attempted to borrow "two bits" from Frank Farrell last evening, and because he failed to get it, bounced his good right arm off Frank's jaw.

Leo Paradis was charged with the larceny of $25 from John E. Durkin. According to Durkin's story Paradis had offered to locate his automobile, which had been stolen some months ago, in consideration of $35. He gave Leo the money, he said, but defendant had failed to bring back the missing car. He had also refused to return the money, Durkin said. Paradis was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $50. He appealed.

EXETER, N. H., June 14.—Forest Murphy, aged 17 years, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed his father's bakery, here early today. The young man was asleep in the bakery at the time and failed to hear his brother Herbert cry a warning, as he dashed out of the flaming building to call the firemen. The blaze, caused by a kettle of grease catching fire, damaged a meat store, barber shop and two tenements overhead to the extent of $5000.

Foch Sends an Ultimatum

and they would virtually have this period, counting the three days' notice which must be given, under the terms of the armistice, before hostilities may be resumed.

May Delay Delivery

It is possible, however, that there may be some delay in presenting the treaty. Smaller nations are reported to be demanding that the pact be considered in a plenary session before being sent to the Germans. If this were conceded, a postponement of the delivery probably would be forced. The heads of the great powers are declared in Paris despatches to be convinced that the Germans will accept the revised terms.

Labor Covenant Altered

A further modification of the treaty is announced in today's despatches. The labor covenant has been altered in some respects not yet stated.

Poles Reconciled to Plebiscite

The Poles are said to be considering in a more favorable light the proposed plebiscite in Silesia, which will determine the future sovereignty of that region. They have, it is said, been given informal assurances that American troops will, if possible, be assigned to the plebiscite district to see that the voting is done fairly and that the voters are not intimidated.

Foch Sends Ultimatum to Huns

Germany having stopped the movement of General Haller's troops from France to Poland, which has for the past six weeks been going on over German soil, Marshal Foch, it is reported, has sent an ultimatum to the German armistice commission at Spa demanding that the troop trains which are being held up be started once more on their way to Poland. Germany's action is due to the alleged fact that the Poles intend to distribute some of Haller's men along the German frontier.

Chinese Cabinet Resigns

The Chinese cabinet has resigned as a result of the popular movement against ministers alleged to be pro-Japanese in sympathies. The president also has intimated that he intends to quit office, but it is said parliament will decline to accept his resignation.

PAWNSHOP STRIKE MAY CAUSE PANTLESS SUNDAY IN NEW YORK

"Uncle" Begs Clerks Not to Walk Out and Leave the Big City Trouserless---New Yorkers Pledge Their Sunday Pants

BY RICHARD SPILLANE.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Although the term "pant" is not used by anyone with pretension to culture, the vast majority of men persist in saying "pant" when they mean trousers. Just at present "pant" is a much-discussed subject in New York. The newspapers devote considerable space to it and many impecunious persons are more or less disturbed over the danger that threatens their "pant," especially their Sunday "pant."

In a great human hive like New York many persons live from day to day, as the saying is, meaning that they never have much more than enough to cover the primary needs of the hour and often not that. One-half of the world does not know how the other half lives, some wise person remarked. The observation is true in the metropolis.

Labor ever is unsatisfied. Strike and threat of strike always is with us. The latest development of this kind in New York is the demand of the pawnbrokers' clerks for an eight-hour day. Failing to get it they say they will strike.

The pawnbrokers say they can grant an eight-hour day for all days but Saturday. They insist on a twelve-hour work period for that day. Otherwise, they declare, tens of thousands of men will be without their Sunday "pant."

From the officers of the Boss Pawnbrokers' Protective Association the information comes that a considerable portion of their business is in making loans on pledges of clothing, principally on Monday and Tuesday. The articles hypothecated by men almost invariably include "pant." The patron who pledges the garment usually is a clerk or worker whose salary is modest, who is paid on Saturday and who does his "big time" on Saturday night or Sunday.

Usually on Monday he is "broke" or nearly so. To get enough for car fare and light lunches through the week he pledges his Sunday "pant." On Saturday, after dinner, he goes to the pawnbroker and redeems the precious article. That night or on Sunday he goes out with his best girl. Monday the "pant" goes back to the pawnbroker.

The pawnbrokers' clerks confirm the statement of the bosses, but insist that is no reason why slavery should be their portion while all other members of union labor is free. Besides, they point out, the man who habitually pawns his pants is not worthy of consideration and he ought to get a job that will make him more provident.

If the tens of thousands who pawn their "pant" had to stay indoors a few Saturday nights and Sundays or wear their poorer trousers they'd save enough from their forced retirement not only to redeem the hypothecated "pant" but buy a new pair.

Most of the men who pledge trousers and other things regularly, they say, are of the class known as "four flushers," and the pawnbrokers either will have to force them to redeem their treasures within an eight-hour day or the pawnbrokers' clerks will strike.

All of which may seem amusing to you, but not to the man facing a pantless Sabbath.

usually on Monday and Tuesday. The articles hypothecated by men almost invariably include "pant." The patron who pledges the garment usually is a clerk or worker whose salary is modest, who is paid on Saturday and who does his "big time" on Saturday night or Sunday.

Usually on Monday he is "broke" or nearly so. To get enough for car fare and light lunches through the week he pledges his Sunday "pant." On Saturday, after dinner, he goes to the pawnbroker and redeems the precious article. That night or on Sunday he goes out with his best girl. Monday the "pant" goes back to the pawnbroker.

The pawnbrokers' clerks confirm the statement of the bosses, but insist that is no reason why slavery should be their portion while all other members of union labor is free. Besides, they point out, the man who habitually pawns his pants is not worthy of consideration and he ought to get a job that will make him more provident.

If the tens of thousands who pawn their "pant" had to stay indoors a few Saturday nights and Sundays or wear their poorer trousers they'd save enough from their forced retirement not only to redeem the hypothecated "pant" but buy a new pair.

Most of the men who pledge trousers and other things regularly, they say, are of the class known as "four flushers," and the pawnbrokers either will have to force them to redeem their treasures within an eight-hour day or the pawnbrokers' clerks will strike.

All of which may seem amusing to you, but not to the man facing a pantless Sabbath.

NO WAR BONUS FOR YEOWOMEN

Women Target of Oratorical Jabs and Refused $100 Bonus For War Service

BOSTON, June 14.—The 1200 yeomen (W) who served in the navy department during the war were yesterday made the target for oratorical jabs by members of the state senate, after which their inclusion in the $100 soldiers' bonus bill was stricken out and the bill passed to a third reading, with the 1000 members of the Students' Army Training Corps included for the first time since it was originally filed.

Use of "Yeomen"
"If a young lady were particularly good looking a limousine was sent to take her to lunch on a rainy day," said Senator Cavanaugh of Everett in referring to the yeomen (F). "We would have lost the war, it seemed, were she to wet her feet."

While one senator claimed that the members of the S. A. T. C. and their parents knew when they joined that they were good for at least two years on this side of the water, another denied this and said that the lapse of time was in most cases but a few months.

The vote to reject yeomen (F) stood 7 to 16 on a standing vote. The inclusion of the members of the S. A. T. C. was determined by voice vote. No roll call was taken on either amendment to the bill.

These two groups of men and women have had an unusual experience in connection with the bonus bill. Neither group was included in the original bill. The house ways and means committee in a second report on the bill included the yeoman (F), but turned down the members of the S. A. T. C. The house passed the bill to be engrossed with both groups eliminated. The senate ways and means committee included both and the senate in its vote of yesterday included the men and excluded the women.

Favored Action by Senate
When the bill was taken up for consideration Senator Gifford of Barnstable said that he had voted in the committee on ways and means to include the women because he felt that the matter should be definitely decided by the senate as a whole. He had heard of the men in Washington who wore spurs to keep their feet on their desks and decided that the yeoman (F) should be included in the bill.

Senator Churchill of Amherst was of the opinion that the situation would be clarified were the principle underlying the extension of recognition first thoroughly understood.

Fundamental Is Sacrifice
"Recognition can be accorded in only two forms," he said. "Either we must recognize the length, danger and value of the service performed, or we must recognize the willingness of those concerned to serve. When we have determined this point then we can consider this question intelligently."

Senator Loring of Beverly said that it is sacrifice, not service, which should be recognized, and that therefore he did not believe the bonus should be extended to the yeomen and students.

Senator Sullivan of Worcester, a Spanish war veteran, urged that the bonus be given only to the fighting men.

"I am not opposed to giving it to the students, who were willing to go into the trenches, but I am against giving it to the yeomen," he said. "If it is extended to them, then give it to the Red Cross nurses and to the women in the shops and in the fields, for surely they served well and faithfully."

Cavanaugh Is Opposed
Senator Cavanaugh opposed the inclusion of the yeomen and students in the provisions of the bill.

"Do the senators know that the total monthly compensation of the yeomen is $175 a month while serving their country?" he asked. "Why, these girls were so numerous in the naval offices that they were tripping over one another. There were 10 or 12 girls employed for every job."

A large number of the girls clamored for the places in order to feather themselves with the high wages and to secure entry into exceedingly congenial surroundings. Some have said that they were subject to working 21 hours a day. Probably if they spared an hour or two from some of the dancing parties that were popular, they might have secured the rest their arduous labors demanded.

Sees An Injustice
"I think an injustice would be done were these girls to be placed in the same class as the soldiers and nurses, who faced shell fire in Flanders. I believe it would also be an injustice to include the members of the S. A. T. C. within the scope of the bill."

The United States contributed financially to their education while members of the corps. Undoubtedly many of the boys, and their parents, knew that on their joining the corps they would not be called upon for actual service for two years.

Senator Cavanaugh held that should the bonus be extended to the yeomen and students it should be given young Americans who fought for the allied cause under the Union Jack.

"They went to Canada and enlisted there," he said. "If service or willingness to serve is the question, should we not recognize them?"

Why Not Four-Minute Men
Senator Knox of Somerville denied that the students, by joining the corps, secured virtual exemption for two years, asserting that in most instances it was but a few months.

Senator Tarbell of Brookfield believed that if the bonus be extended it should be given also to the members of the state guard and other organizations which expended much time and effort in doing their share in winning the war here at home.

Senator Mahoney of Boston spoke in favor of extending the bonus to the girls and students.

"Both have done their share toward the winning of the war, and have done it well," he said. "I believe we would

SENATOR WALSH'S MOVE ON IRISH QUESTION MASTER STROKE

Congressman Rogers Wins on Reviving Insurance of Dead Soldiers---Congressman Would Have Vice President Sign Bills in President Wilson's Absence

Special to The Sun

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—The amendment by Senator Walsh to amend the resolution for sympathy for the Irish people as put before the senate by the republicans is acknowledged by democrats and republicans alike to have been a masterstroke. It not only expressed his true sentiment regarding the cause of Ireland, but it blocked the wheels of the republicans who had taken the initiative in the matter with an eye to the Irish vote in 1920. The move by Senator Walsh to express the sympathy of the senate for the aspirations of the Irish people for a government of their own choice went quite some distance beyond what the republicans had intended, and left them in a position to either follow the lead of the Massachusetts democrat or drop out of the time altogether. Of course, they followed him and the resolution passed with flags flying.

As a first former Senator Walsh scored a great success by his clever move. Commenting on the incident, Senator Walsh said to The Sun:

be showing discrimination were we to exclude them."

Senator Reed of Taunton believed that were the amendments adopted recognition should also be given to "four-minute speakers" and other workers for the successful prosecution of the war.

Inclusion of the yeomen and students was favored by Senators Smith of Lincoln and Hastings of North Adams.

correspondent: "I am greatly pleased that the first resolution I offered in the senate was for aid to Ireland. I believe the Irish people ought to have a government of their own choice and that something more should be done for them than merely getting a hearing at the peace conference."

It has pretty clearly developed here that the people of Ireland want entire independence rather than home rule, according to prominent democrats. A member of congress, who does not want to make a formal statement, regarding this view, said frankly that he believed the matter of "self determination" meant to most of the Irish people a complete separation from English rule and not a home rule government somewhat along the line of Canada, as the great number of people here have understood. The Irish question is likely to become a big one before this session ends.

WITH A CUTE
ORGANDIE APRON

BY BETTY BROWN
The French would dub this little gown "distingue," it is so odd and charming. Of all combinations, it begins with a blue taffeta straight, severe sheath, and hangs over it a diverting apron-like waistcoat of white batiste embroidered in black and blue and white. A blue grosgrain ribbon girdle and bow, repeated at the cuff is another clever touch.

LADY LOOKABOUT

In the midst of the many tag days, donation days, drives, collections, benefits and the like through which we have come hardly scathed; one little drive has been quietly going on about which there has been no blare of trumpet and drum, and which I do not recall having seen mentioned in the newspapers, yet its purpose and aim rank with the foremost. This is the child welfare campaign. So quietly it is carried on that one never hears a word about its sponsors. When at the close of each month, a quiet, modest young girl without uniform or badge, asks you to buy her little booklet for ten cents, and you are assured that with your dime you are saving a baby, you have contributed to the nation-wide campaign for better babies. Only of late have I been sufficiently interested to peruse the little pamphlet, for alas! all the babies I know belong to other ladies. Every page is of interest and I strongly recommend it to mothers, particularly through the coming months of hot weather. Its motto indicates its content: "Education is Prevention—Publicity is Education." Then follow pages of advice to mothers, written by physicians and health experts, often of nation-wide reputation in their respective lines. In addition to the helpful articles printed each month, a personal service department is maintained for the use of readers who feel the need of intelligent advice on matter relating to child welfare. This service is cheerfully rendered, in fact it is considered a privilege by the publishers to be able to assist mothers who may have problems in the raising of the future generation. At the same time they impress upon their readers that they do not give medical advice. The publication is issued by the Welfare Publicity Service, Inc., 1265 Broadway, New York City.

Of course conditions will change as soon as the exchange begins.

The Suffrage Question

As was to be expected, the states already have begun to ratify the suffrage amendment. Women in Massachusetts are looking anxiously toward their state legislature, some with hope, some with fear, for that body has consistently shown a reluctance to trust woman with the ballot. No definite reason is given for this attitude. I am told that one or two local legislators have claimed that the spirit of their constituents is opposed to the principle of equal suffrage. This is a better reason than I have heard frequently from men who are much larger in the political world. The excuse some men have the presumption to offer as their sentiments is most absurd and unbelievable. I refer to those who love to use such expressions as "losing her glorious womanhood," "descending from her lofty pedestal" and the like. Now I will not question our "gloriousness," but in most cases it is a myth, largely in our own minds more than in the minds of men. Another type of man who wishes to centralize the democracy of the world in his own person, is that which has a little knowledge of history. I recall a speech made by Senator Tillman of South Carolina in the United States congress, in a spirit of self-sacrifice in which he finely offered to bear the burden of this ballot rather than share it, he said: "We had better endure the evils of corruption in politics and debauchery in our government rather than bring about a condition which will mar the beauty and dim the lustre of the glorious womanhood with which we have been familiar and to which we have been accustomed all our lives." I wonder if the lustre of that "glorious womanhood" would be dimmed by having a voice in the employment of women and young children in the factories of the south.

AFTERNOONS

BY BETTY BROWN
For afternoon tea parties, or semi-formal evening affairs this simple frock of white handkerchief linen is charming indeed. The round yoke, the skirt, and cuffs are embroidered in a cheek design in French blue cotton, and the quaint peasant tucker and undersleeves are of white organdie, finished with smart blue bows of grosgrain ribbon. A wide white and blue shade hat with gay fruit trimmings completes this effective costume.

THE NEW BATHING SUITS!

THEY'RE HERE!

BY BETTY BROWN

NEW YORK, June 14.—Richest materials, simple lines, elaborate embroideries! "La la Chic!" as the Parisienne says. These are the new bathing suits.

And such a variety. Fifth avenue shops have blossomed with them. They are about as dashing without being daring as the human water sprite could wish.

Here's one of black wool jersey in smock style with a sash of self-material with green and wool crocheted edging, and an embroidered design, in which a fish, as the motif, adds its effective decoration. The checker board facing of the hat lends the finishing note.

Also of fine wool jersey is the worsted figure, this time in a second suit, and again does green braid effect on all edges, even to the tight bloomers. The braided sash is of the same green. The stashed skirt allows freedom of movement, and altogether it's a gem among the new bathing costumes.

But in a Waterette satin model with a godet effect below the waist, after the manner of the newest conventional coats, is another of Fashion's whims.

It's the bloomers. They're built precisely like riding breeches. Of course, there's a sash and again it's braided, though this time of silk to match silk braid embroidery on the suit.

Then there are separate vestees for bathing dresses—another idea borrowed from conventional garb. These are of such materials as Kunst-kumun and oiled silk.

NEST-BUILDING TIME!

Feathering the Nest With Good Furniture—Willow Furniture Good Investment

By Mrs. Edith Nell Nichols, a Bride
Does the task of furnishing your living room appropriately in these days of high prices seem difficult? It really isn't even though your pocketbook is not as heavy as it might be. Even now, sufficient, good looking furniture can be secured for $150. With this expenditure, however, the chairs are of willow.

Willow furniture is not to be despised because it is cheaper than many other kinds. With pretty colored cushions and back pads the chairs are most attractive. Their lines are usually good and they are seldom over-decorated. I found willow furniture light, easy to move in cleaning and very substantial.

I made the cushions and pads for my chairs from denim in a soft brown. A pad and a straight cushion can be made for 50 cents. This includes the cost of the cotton used for stuffing as well as the denim.

Another reason why I consider willow furniture a good investment is that it can be moved to other rooms of the house, to the sun parlor and the porch when it is worn and you have other furniture for the living room. Wicker chairs look well in the bedroom.

Wicker furniture stained in dark brown may be found in the shops at the following prices:

2 straight chairs ..... $18.50
rocking chair ..... 10.50
1 deep arm chair ..... 16.50
1 settee ..... 22.50

All that is needed besides the settee and chairs to complete the furnishings of the living room are a table, rug and curtains. A lovely table of American walnut can be purchased for $25. Such a table would be worthy of a permanent place in your home.

Rugs are most expensive now, but a Scotch wool rug in pretty colors would look well in the informal living room. A good one will not cost more than $30.

Scrim curtains launder and make attractive draperies for windows. A good quality scrim in the 36-inch width may be obtained for 50 cents a yard. Curtains for a window of average size may be made of this scrim for $1.25. I found that I needed to allow four inches for a hem, four inches for shrinkage and two inches for a heading when I purchased my window hangings.

For my bedroom, which was furnished in white enameled cottage furniture I purchased white cheesecloth for 15 cents a yard and dyed it a dull pink. Never were window draperies more soft and lovely than they were.

Of course cheesecloth is more expensive now. The war brought so many surgical uses for it that the prices advanced. At my suggestion, a friend recently purchased colored bunting, which is cheesecloth, and boiled it in soapy water until the color was gone. Then she dyed the bunting a dull blue and had beautiful curtains which cost only 70 cents, including the cost of the dye.

In my guest room I had no rug with the exception of a small pink and white rag rug spread in front of the bed. These little rag rugs can be purchased for less than $5 now.

"MAKE YOUR TABLE ATTRACTIVE. FOOD MAY NOT BE AS IMPORTANT AS LOVE AND KISSES, BUT IT CERTAINLY COMES

JUNE BRIDES MUST LEARN TO COOK

WRITTEN ESPECIALLY BY OSCAR OF THE WARDOR

Make your table attractive.

Now that you have succeeded in attracting a husband, you must learn how to keep him. Food may not be as important as love and kisses, but it certainly comes next!

Therefore, your table must not only be filled with nourishing food, well cooked, but it must be attractive as well. In these days the dinner table must be a beautiful picture as well as an appetizing sight. Linen, silver, china and glass must be immaculately clean. The use of flowers, if available, of course adds a most pleasing note to the simplest meal.

Perhaps there was a time in the early ages of the world when hunger was always to be met with food in any form was welcomed and bolted. But civilization has changed things. Food must satisfy the sense of sight as well as those of taste and smell. Any good cook book will tell you dozens of ways of preparing specific dishes so they will be nourishing, but you must learn how to dress your table with them so as to make the table attract. In serving food care must be taken to have each dish brought to the table presenting an appearance of careful arrangement. There must never be a suggestion of overflowing of any dish, spilling of gravies, sauces, etc.

The proper use of color in meals is tremendously important. It is the thing that many housewives lack. The color of the various meats and sauces should be as different from each other as possible, from one course to another. For instance, if you serve a fish course and have for it a white sauce, you must not follow with a meat course with a white sauce also; rather have a brown sauce.

In serving vegetables, do not serve potatoes and cauliflower, both white; but rather serve a green vegetable with a white. Half the pleasure of eating salads is the fact that they offer such exceptional opportunities for using various colors—particularly the fruit salads.

Then, too, a sprig of green served with the browned roast makes the dish much more attractive and appetizing. Ousbands who want to take dinner "downtown" often, as they express it, "just for a change," are often impelled by the lack of variety and color in their meals at home. The restaurant or hotel food seems more appetizing because it is served with some regard for the importance of color and variety, whereas the housewife often neglects this important point.

Make a study of color in meals; try out different combinations; think out color schemes in planning your meals and you will earn renown as a wife who "knows how to cook," and you will keep your husband at home after the "love and kisses" stage of your matrimonial experience has lost a little of its first fresh edge.

Mrs. Frances Gibson-Rosales Operating Her Wool Factory

WOMAN WORKER

Starts Wool Factory in Her Back Yard

ALAMEDA, Cal., June.—When opportunity, which had evaded many other women, tried to sneak past Mrs. Frances Gibson Rosales, 2840 Encinal avenue, Alameda, Cal., she grabbed it by its long ears and held fast.

Today she's converted it into a unique and profitable wool factory in her back yard.

A year and a half ago she purchased three Angora wool rabbits, one buck and two does which cost her $15. She now has one hundred and fifty wool-bearing rabbits, the nucleus of a new American industry.

In Mrs. Rosales' backyard, 50 by 75 feet, the rabbits are multiplying at a rate which gives the rabbit wool crop a most optimistic outlook. At the same time Mrs. Rosales is multiplying dollars at a healthy rate and creating a demand for wool now recognized for its superiority over sheep wool in a number of industries.

Angora rabbit wool is expected to revolutionize baby garments, from socks to shawls. Its warmth permeates the body as soon as it touches the skin. Also it is as soft as down and does not have to be treated with injurious chemicals. Its purity is expected to create a demand for "bunny-brand" clothing.

It costs about $2.50 a year to keep a chicken and a chicken is not over-productive. A hen may lay on the job and cease laying part of the year, but bunny couldn't keep his hair from growing if he wanted to. Bunny may be a baby in the spring but he's usually a grandfather by the following winter, and in the meantime his wool has been clipped every three months. His annual upkeep is the same as a chicken's, but the net profits from bunny would make any hen blush.

Mrs. Rosales has become an expert in rabbit culture. Here's her advice to other women who would go into the wool business.

"One good buck and a pair of does are sufficient to start a rabbitry with. Keep them in wire hutches cleaned with water daily. Bunny's home must be absolutely sanitary. The average weight of a grown animal is six pounds, but with care they become 12 or even 15-pounders; and of course the size of the rabbit determines the amount of wool production.

"Shear the animals every three months. Use ordinary scissors and start back of the ears and work backward.

"Bunny must be fed twice daily on alfalfa, rolled barley, carrots and plenty of water. Do not overfeed.

"Rabbits must be kept clean and wool free from tangles. "If these instructions are carried out, the bunny business is a good one for every woman who has a backyard. The profits are considerable and the work interesting."

BRADT-TURCOTT ARE GOOD CRACKER NAMES

It has not been hard for O. Turcott, manager of the famous Bradt bakery, to introduce new additions to his already famous family of crackers for his numerous patrons not only in Lowell but all through southern New Hampshire and the eastern part of the state have felt that a factory like the Bradt factory, where crackers have been turned for over 30 years could not afford to. If it had the inclination, to send out an inferior article of food. It has become a habit too long established for this to be true.

The Bradt factory under Mr. Turcott's direction is now manufacturing and distributing to the grocers and other food sellers, soda crackers, butter crackers, oyster crackers and the old-fashioned, common crackers. All are of uniform good quality and good taste. Your grocer, if he is live and up to date, can supply you. It may sometimes be necessary for you to specify Bradt's crackers when you are buying but if you take this pains to do so, you will be obtaining the very best article of the kind possible for you to get. It will be trouble worth taking.

CASH PLAN SAVES FOR DEMERS' PATRONS

E. Demers, who has a sanitary, modern bakery at 466 Moody street, claims he puts out the best loaf of milk bread to be obtained anywhere in the city. Up to date no one has publicly disputed him so his claim stands so far as its being disputed is concerned.

Differently from some of the large bakeries, the Demers bakery also makes a line of pies, cakes and cookies of good quality. Mr. E. Demers, the owner of this bakery, although a young man, has been a baker ever since he was old enough to earn his living and his experience is of the best and the widest. One of the features of his business is that he does not maintain an expensive delivery system. All his bread and pastry is sold over the counter in his store and this saving over the cost of maintaining horses or motor trucks and men to drive them, is a benefit his customers get that enables him to put out a better article for the money than people can get anywhere else.

SINGLE DISH FOR LUNCH

BY BIDDY BYE,
 There's nothing so handy at noon, when you have had a busy morning, as a one-dish luncheon—and nothing so comforting through that morning, as the knowledge that the preparation of that one dish absolves you of all further worry. There are lots of good combinations and every housekeeper knows some of them. Here are just a few by way of suggestion:

Vegetable-Meat Pie—Chop 2 pounds of beef and cook it 2 hours. After adding 2 sliced carrots, a well chopped onion, and a pint of sliced potatoes, cook for another half hour. Pour off the stock and add to it 6 tablespoonsful of flour mixed smoothly with cold water. Cook until it becomes thick and smooth. Putting the vegetables and meat in a baking dish, pour the gravy over it, cover with a layer of baking powder biscuit dough, and bake.

Baked Macaroni—When six-eighths of a cupful of macaroni has been cooked until tender in salted water, drain and add to a cupful of scalded milk, mixed with three beaten eggs, a little less than a cupful of chopped, cooked meat, a cupful of bread crumbs, a teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of onion juice, a tablespoonful of sweet green pepper, and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Bake the mixture three-quarters of an hour in a buttered baking dish, resting in a pan of hot water.

EDEN MACHINE WILL BE MADE IN LOWELL

The plant out beyond Middlesex Village Lowell people formerly know as the International Steel plant, has been renamed and is to do business under a different name. Of course when it was operated as International Steel it was owned and operated by the Gilchrist Mfg. Co. of New York who operated not only the plant here at Middlesex Village but many other similar and larger plants as well.

The product of this plant is hereafter to be exclusively electric washing machines. This plant is to be the eastern home of the Eden Washing machine and it must be kept busy enough to supply the entire eastern territory, including New England and New York state with washing machines of this make. The Eden is a fine, neat, efficient machine and it is rather a good feather in Lowell's hat to have had this modern industry whose workmen are paid a living and equitable wage, come here and locate.

More than 500,000 coats were collected by one man in London at the request of the British war department and shipped abroad for service in the trenches.

INCREASE AND IMPROVE COTTON PRODUCTION

One of the principal subjects to be discussed at the World Cotton conference, to be held in New Orleans next October, will be means of increasing and improving cotton production in the United States and other countries. The discussion will be opened with a paper on "New Sources of Cotton Production," prepared by Dwight B. Heard of Phoenix, Arizona, who has led in the work of devoting the irrigated lands of the Gila Valley in his state to cotton production.

Despite the fact that the total 1919 cotton acreage under cultivation is estimated to be 10 per cent smaller than that of last year, there will be a marked increase in the cotton acreage of Arizona and California. A little less than twenty years ago, preliminary experiments were made in Arizona in the Valley of the Gila and its tributaries, and it was clearly demonstrated that Egyptian cotton could be successfully grown in that region. Since that time, Arizona has produced a steadily increasing output of cotton. The cotton ginned there last year amounted to 21,110 bales, with a value of $6,300,000, while the acreage cultivated increased a hundred per cent over the previous year, covering 32,000 acres.

California is also coming rapidly to the fore as a cotton producing state. For some years, Pima cotton has been successfully grown on the irrigated lands of the Imperial Valley, and now there is increasing prospect that the owners of the grape lands of Central and Southern California, facing the threat of national prohibition, will devote their holdings to the production of cotton. Announcement of the sale of six hundred bales of cotton, representing first crop grown in California, north of Los Angeles, has been recently made, and the cotton acreage for 1919 will include, in addition to a thousand acres in Glenn, Butte and Sutter counties in the upper Sacramento valley, twenty thousand acres in the San Joaquin valley. The first mill for ginning the Central California cotton crop has recently been placed in operation at Durham. It has a capacity of forty bales per day, and is said to be located farther north than any mill in the world. Among the delegates to the world cotton conference will be the owner of the Durham mill—one of the pioneers in an entirely new cotton area.

British delegates to the New Orleans conference will also tell what is being done by England and her dependencies to increase and improve cotton production. For many years the dependence of Lancashire mills on the United States for the average grades of cotton has at the same time emphasized a weakness in the organization of their industry, while the rapid increase in the world demand for cotton has at the same time emphasized the need for developing other cotton fields. America's own requirements steadily increase from year to year, and American spinners are naturally the most favorably situated for purchasing the American crop. Therefore, the Lancashire spinners are looking in steadily increasing measure to the cotton fields of India as a future source of supply. A recent survey has been made by English experts of the Indian situation, and it is the conclusion of those who made it that, with comparatively little trouble, the size of the Indian crop can be doubled.

LOWELL THE CITY OF OPPORTUNITY

These Firms Have Proved It

BECOME ACQUAINTED WITH PYRGOS & A. G.

Although not perhaps carrying on an elaborate and costly, national advertising campaign, that does not alter the fact that the cigars made right here in Lowell by A. Johnson & Company at 613 Merrimack street have just as many good qualities and in many instances give better value for the money and more satisfaction to the smoker, than the stupendously advertised brands.

Two of the favorite trade marked brands of the A. Johnson company's factory are the "Pyrgos" and the "A. G." Satisfaction is guaranteed to any smoker who will make these his favorite brands. Most Lowell dealers sell them and if the prospective customer finds he is unable to get them to the office of the company at 613 Merrimack street and he will be supplied direct if his dealer refuses to take on a product made right here at home and whose manufacture deserves all the support of the home folks that every local institution should have, factories as well as stores.

GOLDSTEIN PAPERS

YOUR ROOM FOR $3

Now just think of this for $3. Max Goldstein will paper a room for you. Of course he has more expensive paper in stock, but for the small amount above mentioned he will give satisfaction. Mr. Goldstein is a paper hanger, whitewasher and painter and his work is very satisfactory. He takes pleasure in giving estimates on either small or large jobs and all orders are promptly attended to. His place of business is at 153-155 Chelmsford street and his telephone number is 2597.

Here's the wild chicken ranch on the Oregon coast, where you could pick up 600 dozen two-pound eggs in a single day's work, if Uncle Sam would only murmur "yes."

TWO-POUND EGGS! 40 CENTS A DOZEN!

N.E.A. Staff Special
PORTLAND, Ore., June 13.—Would you pay 40 cents for a dozen two-pound eggs?

Sure you would, responds old George Fourty, veteran fisherman of Port Orford, Oregon. And that's why George and his son have opened up a campaign to get Uncle Sam's sanction to the biggest, cheapest chicken industry in the world.

Wild chickens—chickens that fly, swim and dive—chickens that eat fish and feed themselves for nothing! Chickens whose eggs weigh two pounds!

Chickens that lay scores of eggs in sand-filled crevices and crannies along the Oregon coast; and when those eggs are gathered by the hand of man, come impatiently in and lay scores more.

That's George Fourty's proposition; supplying America's tables with the eggs of the sea-bird known as the murre, which live in great numbers along the northern beaches and cliffs. Fourty knows it will work, because he used to work it himself. He and his son discovered this untouched natural egg supply, and started to exploit it.

They picked up eggs as fast as a man picks up prunes in an orchard. The murre's had been busy, and there was no end to the supply.

Some days Fourty and his son picked up as many as 600 dozen eggs!

Six hundred dozen is 7200, and at two pounds apiece—oh, figure it out yourself. It makes one's back ache.

Pasture-makers in San Francisco and other cities were glad to buy the sea-bird's eggs at 40 cents a dozen. They were better than hen's eggs for pastry-making.

Scientific tests were made, which revealed high albumen content, and yolks rich in nutritious composites. There is no fishy flavor.

Then the United States government stepped in and shut down on the budding industry.

"We must save our wild fowl," said Uncle Sam.

"If the eggs are properly gathered the wild fowl won't diminish," is Fourty's reply. And he adds: "We steal 20 eggs from the hen to every one that is hatched, yet there are lots of chickens left!"

On the islands and rocky points where the murre breeds, the eggs are so thickly deposited that it is impossible to step around without smashing some.

Down in the city, when Mrs. Housewife drops and breaks an egg, a howl goes up: "There's eight cents gone!" Fourty thinks the sea-bird's cluck will drown that howl.

to the families of all soldiers," said Mr. Rogers today, "and to discriminate between a man who was fortunate enough to get his application in early as against the man who was stricken with a fatal sickness before he could apply, is an injustice which is directly contrary to the intention of congress in providing soldiers' insurance. A man could apply only through his superior officer and the necessary routine often causes a delay which under the former ruling, prevented the payment of insurance as intended when the law passed."

To Have Vice President Sign Bills

Congressman Walsh of the 16th Massachusetts district has offered a joint resolution that the absence of the president from the limits of the United States for a period of more than 24 hours constitutes an inability to discharge the powers and duties of his office and that during such inability the duties shall be performed by the vice president. On the return of the president he shall again assume full power. Mr. Walsh states emphatically that his resolution is not in any sense intended to discredit the president. In fact, Mr. Walsh stated to The Sun correspondent that he believed the president is entirely within his right in absenting himself and in naming himself to head the American delegation at Paris.

"But," said Mr. Walsh, "while he is absent on the great duties of that peace conference the routine business of congress, which needs presidential approval and signature, is held up and the country suffers thereby. I believe it is right and proper for the vice president to act under these circumstances. He was elected to act in place of the president when the latter was unable to perform the duties of the office. I think congress is the proper body to decide when the president is unable to act on the matters which it has prepared for him to sign. Much important business is now delayed and appropriation bills must either lapse or be sent across the ocean 3000 miles and back by courier. It is a dangerous and unsatisfactory method whereas the signature of the vice president could be obtained as soon as the bills are ready. On the return of the president, he would automatically resume the full functions of the office. It seems to me the only business-like way to proceed and the resolution was offered without the slightest intention of criticizing or embarrassing the president."

Joe Cannon's Criticism
Uncle Joe Cannon always holds the closest attention of the house when he speaks on pending bills. One day this week he was urging economy and a sensible disposition of money which is to be expended for returning soldiers. He called attention to the great debt already incurred by the United States and to the fact that it will take 20 years or more to pay it. After rapping the democratic party, the former speaker took a sideswipe at the numerous organizations for aid of soldiers, saying everything but a mule needed brains. "If the brains now being used in the United States by men and women in organizing all kinds of societies to do something for the soldiers that the soldiers do not want done, were used in the production of making something of value to the human family, it would solve many of the problems much more rapidly than congress is liable to solve them."

Daylight Saving
The daylight saving bill still hangs in the balance, but the general opinion is that it will be repealed to take effect in October, along the line of the house committee recommendation. That will give the industrial center the benefit of a full summer of extra daylight and then leave it for the next session to re-enact the bill or continue the old hour, according to the apparent needs when the time comes.

LAKEVIEW CHAPEL
The musical program at the Catholic chapel at Lakeview tomorrow will be given by a quartet from St. Peter's church choir and promises to be a program of a high order of excellence. At the 10 o'clock mass the program will be as follows:

Quartet: Miss Florence Hague, soprano; Miss Sadie Sheehan, contralto; Mr. Lawrence Delany, tenor; Mr. John J. Townsend, basso. Miss Mary Corbett, organist.

WOMAN WORKER

Creates Pictures Just Like She Bakes a Cake

Lois Weber entered the silent drama 12 years ago with the aspiration of becoming the "editorial page of the film." Today she has reached the point where she wishes, above all else, merely to entertain.

"The world must learn," she says significantly. "But it must learn to learn."

Miss Weber is one of the foremost moving picture producers in the American field.

One of a very few women who have proved their ability to handle a picture from "soap to nuts"—that is from conception of theory to correction and labeling of the finished film, she has demonstrated sex is no barrier to success in her chosen profession.

"One of the most amazing things I have encountered," she said, "is the uniform courtesy, kind-heartedness and ready co-operation of the men."

From a player, Miss Weber has progressed by leaps and bounds to the proprietorship of the Lois Weber studios at Vermont and Santa Monica boulevards, Hollywood, Cal., an immense place, elaborately equipped.

Writing her own stories, casting her own companies, saving her own sets and lights and scenes, directing and overseeing, she has traversed the entire gamut of picture lore.

"I produce pictures just as I keep house—by intuition, not by rule," she said.

"When I make a cake I never can remember any set formula. So I take a pinch of this and a pinch of that, and a little of the other. That's the way I make a picture."

"I like working with the untrained mind. It can be moulded like a piece of putty."

"I have my own ideas clearly defined before I start. I can convey these easily to another mind that has not already formed definite conceptions."

"A good picture is the result of an inspiration; a definite though perhaps fleeting vision. If I cannot visualize my play in its entirety before I start, I do not start, because I know it would be useless to finish it."

While Miss Weber is interested in entertaining the public just now, because she maintains its recent war experiences make such entertaining essential to the peace of humanity, she has what might be called a "pre-view" of the possibilities of the film as a great educational factor.

"I can see the screen," she said, "coming into its own, sometime in the future, as a means of instructing the public."

"The film will prove the greatest educator for the least mental output that civilization can produce."

With the introduction of the new lens, which takes so many pictures per second that a man jumping over a fence seems to move as slowly as a worm, there are wonderful possibilities of studying surgery by the screen. Operations can be performed showing the lightning-like movements of the hands of skilled operators slowly enough to make it possible for students to learn as they look."

ANITA STEWART IN "TWO WOMEN" BIG FEATURE AT THE STRAND FIRST PART OF WEEK

That charming and talented screen favorite, Anita Stewart, one of the biggest screen stars of the present day, in "Two Women," will be the big feature at The Strand for the first part of next week. It's her latest release so far as Lowell is concerned, and it's said to be one of her best. Goldwyn presents, Louis Bennison in "Sandy Burke of the U-Bar-U," another interesting pictorialization that's sure to please. Miss Gertrude Breene of New York will be the week's soloist and the usual comedy and Universal Weekly will be shown.

For the last three days of the week Theda Bara in "The Siren's Song," and her ideals—such as Theda Bara in her latest role. In "The Siren's Song," which is to be shown during the last three days of the week, beginning with matinee on Thursday, the world-famous William Fox star plays the part of a young fishermaid of Brittany. Spurned by her lover, she makes her way to Paris, where her voice wins her fame and fortune. It also brings to her a man who loves her truly. She lives with him happily until her girlhood lover reappears. Under the guise of religious fervor, he weaves her a contrast Miss Bara in her work of last week with that of the coming characterization.

The Pan Alley, where New York music publishers made their headquarters in the old days, is said to be the scene of "Words and Music By—" featuring Albert Ray and Elinor Fair, which is to be shown during the week. The picture deals with the struggles and recognition of two young Americans, a boy and girl who go to New York from a small town to win fame as composer and vocalist. This is the second picture in which Mr. Ray and Miss Fair have been starred and is one of the series of "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," which William Fox has announced for them. The play is based on a short story written for the Red Bank Magazine by William Churchill and was staged under the direction of Scott Dunlap, who recently was promoted from an assistant directorship. The production is said to lend itself to an exceptionally interesting musical program. A Bill Parsons comedy will contribute to the bill, and the latest Universal Weekly will also help make it doubly acceptable.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The concluding performances at the B. F. Keith theatre, for the present season, will take place tomorrow afternoon and evening, when a Sunday bill of more than ordinary strength will be presented. Sybil Vane, the charming little coloratura soprano, will be the leader of the bill. She will give a group of new songs. Doc O'Neil will tell some of his funny stories, and Leon Domague will give piano numbers. Others on the bill will be: Grace and Eddie Parks, talkers and singers; Joe and Agnes Riley, in songs and harp selections; The Ryans, new to this city, and decidedly fetching; and Dorothy Curtis, a singer.

Ivan Bankhoff, the Russian dancer, and his company will appear for the first time this afternoon and evening. The first engagement of the noted dancer here, these will be the final opportunities to see him in his classic, "The Dancing Master." Mr. and Mrs. Mel-Burne will present "On the Fourth Floor," a great laughing success, and others on the bill will be Miss Vane, soprano; Grace and Eddie Parks, Erford's Whirling Sensation; Joe and Agnes Riley and Doc O'Neil.

A court in Chicago was recently called upon to settle a dispute between a man and his wife over the question as to whether the wash-rag should be hung in the kitchen or the bathroom.

LOWELL WEAKENS AND GAME IS TIED

For the third time within a week, yesterday's Lowell hitters spotted their pitcher enough runs to win an ordinary game, yet saw the lead cut down and eventually tied. In a game stopped at the end of the seventh inning, the home club and the visiting team were deadlocked at eight runs each, thereby putting in about two hours of work devoid of results.

Pitchers came and went with surprising frequency at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon, no fewer than six hurlers mounting the peak during the abbreviated contest. The game started for Lowell, went through two innings like ready money, but staggered to the showers in the third after eight Lewiston men had belted out five solid hits and had scored four runs. Two more were on the bases when Bob Clark stepped out as the rescue bird and he began where he left off on the day previous, forcing the next batter to pop out to Baker.

For three innings Lewiston was due double as a hitting team, but he, too, was due for the electric chair or something, and during the seventh inning, the home club's lead was again wiped out by a perfect barrage in favor of Joe Scanlon, who only had to pitch to one man.

The opening inning was a riot from a Lowell viewpoint. Eleven men went to bat; three were walked, four drove out screaming, one got a life on an error and the remainder trio provided the outs. With Penfold showing a lot of stuff in the opening inning and having no trouble in the second, the situation looked bleak, but Penfold was arrested like a runaway elk in the third and did not last out the frame. Four runs for Lewiston.

To make the game more interesting, out and walked in two more runs in the fifth, making the score read 3 to 1. Clark was working nicely when he fell all over the place, and whammy! Lewiston's bats unfolded in the seventh and starting with an error by Baker with one down, shot hits to the outfield until four runs had piled up. The home club's lead was then tied up. Lowell might have won in the last half had anyone on the club possessed the power to knock in Weaver from second base, but he was tried off the lid with a ripping double, his third successive hit. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME
 Kost for Lewiston and Weafer for Lowell were stars. Kost, singled in the second, tripled in the third, singled in the sixth and doubled in the seventh. Weafer tripled in the first, sacrificed in the second, singled in the fifth and doubled in the seventh. Two perfect days.

With Hayden on first in the fifth and Cline on third, Mike made a bluff to go down, was caught between the bases, turned back toward first, but reached second before the throw was switched to the plate to head off Cline. The throw was low to Duncan, however, and Cline slid over in safety.

Parent started Pick in both Lowell games, but his willingness caused his removal by the visiting rally by three men to face him yesterday and twice enough.

Bossie has been moved up in Lynch's place in the batting order and the center fielder is making good with a vengeance. He hits the ball hard.

Not much satisfaction in a game, either to spectators or players. An afternoon wasted in the best which may be said about it.

Parent was very quiet yesterday in comparison to Thursday. On May 14, he handled the game alone, worked hard and gave general satisfaction.

Hayden is expecting a new pitcher from Tufts college to add strength to his hurling staff. The new man comes on the solicitation of Weafer.

The game scheduled between Haverhill and Lowell at Spaulding park, Monday, will be transferred to Haverhill because of the circus engagement here. Haverhill will come to Lowell Tuesday.

LAWRENCE 5, FITCHBURG 4
 LAWRENCE, June 14.—Lawrence won from Fitchburg here yesterday, 5 to 4, despite a batting rally by the visitors in the ninth inning. Bancroft's hitting featured. The score:

BOSTON SOX EVEN UP WILLIE DOAK BLANKS THE BRAVES

The Boston Red Sox took another crack at Chicago yesterday, winning 5 to 1, and thereby getting an even break in the four-game series. One big inning decided the game. In the fifth frame Schellenback lost control and issued four bases on balls. McCann's single scored the run and Schang cleared the bases with a double. Scott then singled Schang over. Sam Jones was never in trouble after the first inning, holding the visitors to five hits.

Walter Johnson had the better of a pitching duel with Ray Norton, Washington winning 1 to 0. Detroit came from behind and nosed out the Yankees, 6 to 5, and the poor Athletics dropped another game to the Browns.

GOOD LOOKING TEAM

Despite Mediocre Week, Lowell Has More Strength Than Other Clubs

Although Mike Hayden's Lowell club went through the present week with two defeats, one victory and a tie game, the team, nevertheless, gives every indication of being the strongest combination in the league outside of the pitching staff. Of course, it is a lot to say that the team would be O. K. if the pitchers were good, and no team is any stronger than its hurling staff, but in the field and at bat the Sox look the best of the lot. Their faces will be added to the twirling quartet before long and if they come through nothing on the horizon to date, they will be in direct contact with the team started wrong this week by dropping a game to Haverhill, which should have been won easily and then made matters worse by losing another contest to the tail-enders after creating a substantial lead in the opening innings. Lewiston came to town and was defeated on Thursday and should have received a similar dose yesterday, but they were not allowed the game to end in a deadlock.

The batting of the team has been superb during the past few games and every one of the best of the lot has been steady and at times brilliant. Only one error in each of the last four games has cropped out to mar perfect play. The Sox are playing like a team, the other teams in the league which of late have been piling up four, five and six misplays every game.

With Baker and Weafer as stars the infield is strong, while the outer gardeners, Eckstein, Bosie and Cline have all shown good ground hitting. The Sox are in a position to win a sweet tendency to hit the old apple. Individual batting averages have soared as a rule, this being a good sign. Shows every indication of sustaining the fast pace.

Weafer, although recently coming to Lowell, has been doing well. Ty Cobb and this week has run his average up to .371. Sullivan is in second place with .353 and Eckstein has led the team with .325. Other hitters follow: Penfold, .307; Hayden, .298; Cline, .290; Devon, .287; Lynch, .275; Bosie, .270; Pierotti, .269; Davis, .251; Scanlon, .243; Baker, .222; Clark, .195; Gaudette, .156; Merritt, .060.

GOOD RACING AT COMBINATION PARK

The three days' meeting at Combination park, Medford, closed yesterday afternoon. There were three races on the card and all were decided in straight heats. Two Lowell horses, Jim S and Balen, were on the program, but did not start. No reasons were given and it was stated that both Lowell horses would start at Woonsocket, N. H. next week.

The big feature of the day was the 2-23 trot, in which the brown gelding, The Raider, in Harry Bros's stable was the first to beat the class of the field. Brusie's entry, however, got into trouble the first heat and his bad behavior landed him behind the flag. Jesse Gentry had the speed to take his field into camp in straight heats in 2:14, the first heat to dispose of a Mayvory.

As expected, Patrick Duluth found himself in a tight place in the 2-23 trot. The 2-23 trot, Silkebel, a former pupil of Walter Cox, made him step looked to be in danger. He will be a hard trotter to beat this season.

It was announced that the matinee events arranged for Saturday were off and the meeting was declared closed.

Failure of Engineers To Obey
Caution Cause of Crash in Which 14 Were Killed

WASHINGTON, June 14—Failure of the engineers of the Soranton Express to observe and obey a caution indication was the primary cause of the rear end collision on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad near Fort Washington, Pa., last January, said a report by the bureau of safety of the Interstate Commerce commission. Fourteen persons were killed in the wreck.

RUSSIAN REDS CROSS GALICIAN BOUNDARY

LONDON, June 14—Russian bolshevik troops are reported to have crossed the Galician boundary and to be approaching Tarnopol with the evident intention of joining the Hungarian bolsheviks when the Hungarian frontier is reached, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Vienna under Thursday's date.

The Czech-Slovaks, the Vienna advices add, report a favorable turn in their military operation. They have recaptured several towns from the Hungarians.

take the place of grammar schools was presented to members of the school committee. Supt. Hugh J. Molloy of the school department and Principal Herbert D. Blaby of the high school at a conference held last evening. The speakers were Supt. Parlin of the Chelsea high schools and Supt. Jackson of the Lynn schools. The matter is being studied by the school committee in connection with the erection of Lowell's new high school.

In Chelsea the system provides for six years in the elementary schools, three in the junior and three in the senior high school. In Lynn the system is much the same except that the pupil spends two years in the junior high and four in the senior. Some of the advantages pointed out by the speakers were that if the pupil were obliged to go to work before finishing his high school course, he is better equipped if he has finished the junior high school course than if he had merely completed a grammar school course. Another advantage is that the transition from one school to another is less abrupt than is the case under the present system and the pupils fall into the various grades more easily. The cost is about the same as it is under the present system in Lowell. There was considerable discussion concerning the courses, outlines of study, etc., and it was agreed that the matter should be given further study in connection with plans for the new high school.

COMPETITIVE EXAMINATION

PARK LAND COMPANY
The Park Land Co. has resumed activities in the sale of building lots on their tract of land, "Belvidere Park," on Anderson street, formerly the Daniel's estate. Several fine house lots have been sold during the past week. Another residence is being erected on Holbrook avenue at a cost of $4000. The company will have agents on the premises today and tomorrow. Lots are offered at from $50 up, on easy payments. The location is ideal for residential purposes and is worthy the attention of prospective home owners.

CORP. DRAPER BACK FROM FRANCE

Draper was most recently with the Third Army of Occupation in Germany. Originally he was with the 76th Division and left Camp Devens on the afternoon of July 4, 1918. He was subsequently assigned to various outfits, and with the signing of the armistice, went into Germany with the occupational units. He arrived at Camp Merritt, N. ### CORRECTION

Dr. A. J. Gagnon takes exceptions to the item published in yesterday's issue of The Sun relative to the outing of St. Joseph's church choir, which will be held at Salisbury beach Sunday, June 29. The doctor states that the singers will not be entertained at his summer home, but at a hotel on the beach.

ALL ABOARD FOR NEW ENGLAND'S BIGGEST, BEST AND FINEST GYPSY TOUR

The biggest and best tour in the history of New England motorcycling will take place June 15, 16 and 17, when hundreds of riders and their families will enjoy one vast outing at The Weirs, New Hampshire. The so-called Gypsy Tours which bring out hundreds of motorcyclists in New England annually for a day or two on the road, has this year resolved itself into one big rally at The Weirs. All the Gypsy Tours from every point of New England will join the big tour from Boston for The Weirs in June.

The first day, Sunday, June 15, will be devoted chiefly to "getting there." The Boston tour leaves around 5:30 in the morning and each rider will carry a basket lunch. The run from there is planned so as to bring the tourists to The Weirs around 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Monday will be a big field day, with a hill climb, races and other competitive events, and novelties by the score. Of course, those who do not care to stay for these sports, will find every convenience for touring the White mountains or other side trips on that day. Tuesday will see the "party" breaking up and riding for home.

Riders from cities near Boston will join the riders there on the trip. Bunches of riders from other points will go independently, but—"All roads lead to The Weirs on June 15."

Hotel accommodations at reduced rates can be arranged for by going "with the crowd" on this big sociability run, or communicating with the following men: Ben C. Straube, 145 E. Columbus avenue, Boston; E. W. Davis, 34 Crystal street, Worcester; J. B. McNaughton, 337 State street, Springfield; B. H. Bachelder, Lowell.

All motorcyclists are invited to participate in this big rally. The Boston riders will leave at 9:30 Sunday morning and schedules have been arranged so clubs and groups from cities and towns along the route will join the main crowd at stated times, and by the time the motorcyclists reach The Weirs, it will be an impressive parade. Some of the joining places along the route and the times arranged for them to meet the main tour are as follows: Boston, 9:30; Lowell, 11; Manchester, 12:45; Concord, 1:30 p. m. (Basket lunch about a half-hour out of Concord.) The Weirs 5 p. m.
